

New England In Path Of Hurricane

BOSTON (AP) — Hurricane Gerda, a fast-moving storm born almost overnight off the South Atlantic coast, slammed into southeastern New England today, catching the region only half prepared.

The storm bore down first on picturesque Cape Cod, and next was to turn its fury on eastern Maine.

BOSTON (AP) — Residents of New England's weathered Atlantic shoreline raced against time today to brace themselves for Hurricane Gerda, a fast-moving storm born almost overnight southwest of Cape Hatteras, N. C.

90-100 MPH Winds
The storm, packing 90-100-mile-per-hour winds and churning up 30-40-foot seas, was trundling north-northeastward at 40 m.p.h.—unusually fast for a hurricane—and was expected to roar across Cape Cod around noon (EDT).

Hurricane warnings extended from Block Island, R.I., northward to Eastport, Maine. Gale warnings were up for most of the rest of the Northeast coast.

The Weather Bureau warned that flooding was likely along the shoreline, and added that it probably would be "major" on the cape.

Warnings Issued
Similar warnings were issued for the off-shore summer resort islands of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket.

At Otis A.F.B. on Cape Cod, crewmen began removing planes at midmorning, flying them to inland havens.

And officials at the Newport (R.I.) Naval Base began shifting the 32 ships at anchor there to safer moorings in a protected channel.

Urgency cloaked eastern New England as the area prepared for the storm.

So quickly did the storm develop, in fact, that at least 150 fishing boats from southeastern New England ports were reported caught at sea.

In the dozens of summer resort communities that dot the southeastern Massachusetts shoreline, boatmen struggled to secure their craft against the oncoming storm. Shopkeepers and homeowners boarded windows, and school children were sent home early.

Hundreds of pleasure craft remained at anchor in these towns, and officials said they feared loss of property would be extensive.

About 100 boats still were in the water at Edgartown, on Martha's Vineyard, and Police Chief Dominick J. Arena said: "We're working like hell to get them buttoned down."

Earlier, New York and New Jersey residents were advised by the Weather Bureau to "be prepared to take quick action if this should prove necessary."

Mayor John V. Lindsay ordered New York City officials to "batten down the hatches." All city police units were alerted.

It had been traveling at about 20 m.p.h., but weather officials predicted "an increase in intensity and a more rapid movement."

In Rhode Island, the civil defense director said schools and other public buildings would be used as emergency shelters if the storm necessitated evacuation of low-lying areas.

Massachusetts civil defense director Allan R. Zenowitz asked residents of Cape Cod and neighboring islands to check emergency plans.

Towns in eastern Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina were alert for possible flooding, but expected the storm to pass without trouble.

Jetport Fight Just Beginning
WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight over a proposed jet airport near the Florida Everglades appears far from over, despite reports to the contrary.

Richard H. Judy, deputy director of the Dade County Port Authority, says his group has no intention of relocating the giant jetport which conservationists fear would destroy the swamp and wildlife of Everglades National Park.

And a meeting scheduled for Wednesday here between Florida Gov. Claude Kirk, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel and Transportation Secretary John Volpe seems more likely to produce battle strategy than immediate victory.

Reports published last week quoted sources in Kirk's office as saying President Nixon had decided against the proposed jetport site nine miles north of the Everglades.

But any site decision must involve the Dade County Port Authority which is planning the airport and owns the proposed 38-square-mile site 45 miles west of Miami.

In a telephone interview, Judy said the authority has not considered or even agreed to consider a new site.

Nor has there been any federal or state pressure, so far, to do so—"none whatsoever," said Judy.

"We are going to move ahead to develop the site as a training facility and continue our environmental studies toward developing it into an airport site," he said.

But actually we have not yet made the decision to go commercial. Our environmental program will take two or three years and our decision process would come in 1972 or 1973."

Hickel confirmed there was no agreement so far with the county on a new jetport site.

Problem List Big For Nixon
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is back in Washington where the list of problems, issues and priorities did not diminish during his month-long California working vacation.

The programs the President has offered to the Congress remain stalled and could benefit from his personal quarterbacking. His welfare, post office and crime packages have yet to go before committee.

While administration men have hinted at progress in Vietnam the President's next public decision may very well concern the dimensions of the next troop withdrawal from the war zone.

There will be presidential interest in Senate action on his appointment to the Supreme Court, Clement Haynsworth, and selection of a permanent successor to the late Everett M. Dirksen as GOP minority leader in the Senate. Nixon is reported to favor a more conservative choice than Senate GOP Whip Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania who is temporarily serving in the post.

The President returned to the capital Monday night after steps for dedication ceremonies of a new dam on the Rio Grande near Del Rio, Tex., and a first-hand look at the hurricane-ravaged Gulf Coast.

Students Fascinated
For the most part the students were fascinated with their new music teacher, asked him about his blindness and how he learned to read. Chavich explained about braille and distributed a leaflet about the blind in braille and print.

For Chavich, a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the Manhattan School of Music, the teaching job signals the culmination of a long fight for a teacher's license.

"The day was very exciting, very busy and a tremendous learning experience," said Chavich. "Now I want to do some good teaching."

Textbook In Braille
His textbook is being transcribed into braille and he will hire, at his own expense, someone to read aloud written school work.

"I've been told by my colleagues I was foolish to accept him," said Stier, "but I think it's wonderful for the children—not to the extent he's blind but that he's overcome it. They feel they will fail because they are disadvantaged. Here's a man who is really disadvantaged."

Blank Paper Doesn't Fool Blind Teacher

NEW YORK (AP) — One little boy turned in a blank sheet of paper for classwork and several children tried to sneak out of their seats. But otherwise it was a normal first day of classes for New York's first blind public school teacher.

"I shall grade it accordingly with a zero," said the teacher, Alexander J. Chavich, 38. "I don't think I shall have to worry about a blank piece of paper again unless the guy is absolutely suicidal."

The students who attempted to leave their seats quickly discovered Chavich can slightly see light and was aware of their movement. He returned them to their seats, somewhat astonished.

But the day in Macombs Junior High School, located in a disadvantaged area of the Bronx, was not without problems, said Principal Milton Stier.

Furniture had to be rigidly arranged so Chavich would not bump into it. Students were told to speak out for attention instead of raising their hands.

Chavich was excused from lunchroom monitor duty when it became apparent he could not handle 500 youngsters swirling about.

Attack Rated Big
This was the biggest attack by Israel on any Arab power since the raid into Jordan in March 1968, when Israeli forces hit an Arab commando base at Karameh. This day-long action, also supported by tanks and planes, killed more than 120 guerrillas, the Israelis claimed then.

Voting In Detroit Could Affect City
DETROIT (AP) — Detroit voters cast ballots today in a primary election that could reflect the city's racial and "law-and-order" climate for the first time since its devastating 1967 riots.

Candidates were being nominated for an entire new municipal government, comprising the nonpartisan offices of mayor, city council, clerk and treasurer.

Despite favorable weather, only about one-third of Detroit's 707,837 registered voters were expected to show up at the polls before they close at 8 p.m. (EST).

Transporting, housing and feeding the hundreds of persons who came to San Clemente on business for periods ranging from a day to the full month added to the government's costs.

So-called courier planes, smaller jets carrying eight or so passengers, made flights three times a week from Washington to San Clemente, bringing both officials and documents.

Air Force One, the presidential jet, or a similar plane joined the run when necessary to bring a large group such as the full cabinet to meet in San Clemente. Actual flying time costs of these big jets is $400 an hour, Ziegler said.

Israeli Troops Invade Egypt; One Plane Lost

Armored Units Thrust Across Gulf Of Suez

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli aircraft and armored units thrust into Egypt across the Gulf of Suez today in a raid on Egyptian army positions, the Israeli army announced.

It was the biggest action reported on the Egyptian-Israeli front since the 1967 Middle East war.

10-Hour Operation
The 10-hour operation ranged over a 30-mile stretch of the Egyptian shore, a military spokesman reported.

One Israeli plane was lost and the pilot parachuted into the Gulf of Suez, he said.

The attack began at 2 a.m., and lasted until noon, the spokesman continued.

The Israelis used naval vessels to take their armor across the 25-mile-wide gulf.

He listed Israeli casualties as one soldier wounded and claimed dozens of Egyptian soldiers were killed or wounded and "heavy damage caused" to Egyptian equipment.

The planes bombed and strafed armor batteries and units of the Soviet-built surface to air—SAM—missiles, he said.

The action raged between El Hasayer and Ras Za' Farana, 60 miles south of the port of Suez at the southern end of the Suez Canal.

Sea Battle Reported
The raid came on the heels of a sea battle in the same general area Monday. In that engagement, Israel claimed to have sunk two Egyptian torpedo boats. Cairo said one Egyptian boat was hit but not sunk and asserted the Egyptians sank an Israeli vessel.

In the latest raid, the Israelis claimed to have destroyed army bases and encampments, vehicles, radar stations and buildings.

The Egyptians put up no air or sea resistance, the spokesman said. The raid came after what the spokesman called continued and initiated Egyptian aggression.

This was the biggest attack by Israel on any Arab power since the raid into Jordan in March 1968, when Israeli forces hit an Arab commando base at Karameh. This day-long action, also supported by tanks and planes, killed more than 120 guerrillas, the Israelis claimed then.

Wide-Open Contest Seen For Sen. Dirksen's Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans now anticipate a wide-open contest—with the White House likely to take an active role—for the Senate leadership job left vacant by Everett M. Dirksen's death.

At least five GOP senators, and possibly more, are rated prospective candidates.

Republicans Mum
For the moment, and probably for the remainder of this Dirksen funeral week, no Republican senator is willing to talk frankly and publicly about the looming leadership race.

GOP sources indicated the prospective senators to succeed Dirksen are likely to wait, taking their own soundings of support, before deciding whether to openly enter the competition.

Although one senator said "It shouldn't take too long to contact 43 Republicans," indications are even the contact work won't begin immediately.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, now acting Republican leader, refused to discuss his possible candidacy to win the job permanently. "My responsibility is just to carry on until other arrangements are made," he said.

Conference Planned
Those arrangements will be made at a conference of Republican senators, not yet scheduled, to vote on Dirksen's successor.

The Liberal Republican Scott is certain to face a conservative challenge if, as expected, he bids for the top GOP job.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska and Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado are rated prime prospects among the more conservative Republicans. Sen. John Tower of Texas said he would be available but did not expect to be summoned to the task.

White House Interested
GOP sources said the White House certainly would be interested and involved in the Senate situation. One Republican said the administration would probably side with the more conservative wing of the party.

Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas, known to be interested in the leadership, is regarded as a possible compromise candidate. He is not closely identified with either wing of the party.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan is another man in the middle category. Griffin, however, has been in the Senate for only three years, and is regarded as a longshot possibility.

One senior Republican said he anticipated conservatives would join forces behind a single candidate, probably either Allott or Hruska, to avoid splintering their votes in a contest with Scott.

Another said wryly: "Maybe we should advertise."

Plans Readied For Burial Of Sen. Dirksen
WASHINGTON (AP) — While a lonely marigold marks his vacant Senate desk, Everett M. Dirksen will lie in state today beneath the Capitol's soaring dome to receive the nation's tribute.

Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader until his death Sunday, is the 21st American since Abraham Lincoln to be so honored.

Following the reading of the 23rd Psalm by Senate Chaplain the Rev. Dr. L. R. Elson, the Dirksen family asked President Nixon to deliver the eulogy for the man the President had called "my warm personal friend."

The casket, resting on the same catafalque that carried Lincoln's body and attended by a military honor guard, is to remain on view in the rotunda until, at noon Wednesday, it is carried by horse to National Presbyterian Church for funeral services.

The senator's family has accepted the President's offer of his personal plane—Air Force One—to fly them and the senator's body to burial services Thursday at Pekin, Dirksen's small-town birthplace on the Illinois prairie.

However, Nixon will not attend the burial, sending Vice President Spiro T. Agnew instead.

Dirksen was the fourth senator to lie in state in the capitol rotunda. His casket rested on the black velvet catafalque that has borne the bodies of presidents, soldiers and statesmen since Lincoln's funeral, 104 years ago.

Monday morning, moments before the Senate's 11 o'clock opening, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine—who has made the rose she always wears her personal symbol—placed a long-stemmed marigold, tied with a white ribbon, on Dirksen's front-row desk.

Sen. Smith, who placed a rose on the desk President John F. Kennedy had used as a senator following his 1963 assassination, was one of many who remembered that Dirksen liked marigolds so much he made an annual Senate speech to unsuccessfully champion their cause.

Motel Costs $35,000
Government personnel occupied between 100 and 120 rooms of the 130-room establishment each night of Nixon's stay. Calculating some double occupancy and a special rate of $88 per person per night granted by inn owner Paul Presley produces a bill there of perhaps $36,000.

Some staff members stayed at a Laguna Beach motel along with members of the news media.

Transporting, housing and feeding the hundreds of persons who came to San Clemente on business for periods ranging from a day to the full month added to the government's costs.

So-called courier planes, smaller jets carrying eight or so passengers, made flights three times a week from Washington to San Clemente, bringing both officials and documents.

Air Force One, the presidential jet, or a similar plane joined the run when necessary to bring a large group such as the full cabinet to meet in San Clemente. Actual flying time costs of these big jets is $400 an hour, Ziegler said.

Newest Planes Seen As Boon To Troop Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators backing the Pentagon's request to go ahead with the controversial C5A transport say more of the supercargo planes could enable a cutback in U.S. forces overseas.

Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Milton R. Young, R-N.D., said today in prepared speeches that by using the huge transports to boost the nation's airlift capability, the number of American troops abroad might be trimmed.

The arguments came as the Senate headed toward an expected afternoon vote on Sen. William Proxmire's effort to hold up authority for 23 more C5As pending a General Accounting Office study of the need for the planes.

Proxmire said the review also should delve into the heavily criticized contract under which Lockheed Aircraft Corp. will be made up by the government.

Young, senior GOP member of the defense subcommittee, said he favors a sharp reduction in the U.S. Army in Europe.

"With the capability we will have through the C5A," he said, "we could easily withdraw two or three divisions from Germany." This would be nearly half the U.S. ground force there.

Young said most of the increased cost in the C5A—nearly $2 billion since the contract was signed in 1965—is due to inflation, frequent changes in production schedules and improvement "which gives us a better weapons system and should not be considered as a cost increase in the usual sense."

He charged the Proxmire amendment "would cause a break in the production of the C5A aircraft which could lead to tremendous further increases in its cost."

Proxmire has contended that since the 56-plane first run won't be completed until mid-1971, his amendment would not cause any delay.

Western White House Costly

By DICK BARNES
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — With President Nixon's month-long working vacation behind them, officials charged with day-to-day operation of the Western White House are adding up the bills and working out more permanent plans—like who's to mow the lawns.

Hundreds Of Thousands
The cost of Nixon's tenancy here runs well into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Government per diem for the president's official entourage, for example, apparently tops the $100,000 mark alone.

Several major items, such as setting up offices next to the President's San Clemente home and installation of communications facilities, were essentially one-time tasks.

But housekeeping details—like whether the Coast Guard, the General Services Administration, or a private contractor should mow the newly turfed lawn—remain to be settled as plans for a four-year, or perhaps eight-year, use of the Western White House are laid.

No Public Statement
Precisely what it costs for the President to work here the past month will not be made public. Some of the biggest cost items—installation and operation of the elaborate communications system, for instance—are closely guarded government secrets.

"If we said what communications capability is from that dollar figure," said Ronald Ziegler, presidential press secretary, "Communications costs are part of the Army Signal Corps and thus Defense Department budgets."

The network established at San Clemente, Ziegler said, is essentially the same as is set up for a presidential visit to any place out of Washington for three days or longer.

Other Costs Scattered
Other costs are scattered throughout the budgets of numerous government agencies, making accounting complex.

The erection and first-year's lease of two administration buildings at the Western White House cost slightly more than $100,000.

These were built in less than two months by a Los Angeles firm at a Coast Guard base next to Nixon's recently purchased $340,000 residence on five acres of land overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

In addition, the General Services Administration spent about $70,000 more to partition, furnish and otherwise prepare the flat-roofed prefabricated structures.

Transporting, housing and feeding the hundreds of persons who came to San Clemente on business for periods ranging from a day to the full month added to the government's costs.

So-called courier planes, smaller jets carrying eight or so passengers, made flights three times a week from Washington to San Clemente, bringing both officials and documents.

Israeli Troops Invade Egypt; One Plane Lost

Armored Units Thrust Across Gulf Of Suez

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli aircraft and armored units thrust into Egypt across the Gulf of Suez today in a raid on Egyptian army positions, the Israeli army announced.

It was the biggest action reported on the Egyptian-Israeli front since the 1967 Middle East war.

10-Hour Operation
The 10-hour operation ranged over a 30-mile stretch of the Egyptian shore, a military spokesman reported.

One Israeli plane was lost and the pilot parachuted into the Gulf of Suez, he said.

The attack began at 2 a.m., and lasted until noon, the spokesman continued.

The Israelis used naval vessels to take their armor across the 25-mile-wide gulf.

He listed Israeli casualties as one soldier wounded and claimed dozens of Egyptian soldiers were killed or wounded and "heavy damage caused" to Egyptian equipment.

The planes bombed and strafed artillery batteries and units of the Soviet-built surface to air—SAM—missiles, he said.

The action raged between El Hasayer and Ras Za' Farana, 60 miles south of the port of Suez at the southern end of the Suez Canal.

Sea Battle Reported
The raid came on the heels of a sea battle in the same general area Monday. In that engagement, Israel claimed to have sunk two Egyptian torpedo boats.

Cairo said one Egyptian boat was hit but not sunk and asserted the Egyptians sank an Israeli vessel.

In the latest raid, the Israelis claimed to have destroyed army bases and encampments, vehicles, radar stations and buildings.

The Egyptians put up no air or sea resistance, the spokesman said. The raid came after what the spokesman called continued and initiated Egyptian aggression.

Attack Rated Big
This was the biggest attack by Israel on any Arab power since the raid into Jordan in March 1968, when Israeli forces hit an Arab commando base at Karameh. This day-long action, also supported by tanks and planes, killed more than 120 guerrillas, the Israelis claimed then.

Voting In Detroit Could Affect City

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit voters cast ballots today in a primary election that could reflect the city's racial and "law-and-order" climate for the first time since its devastating 1967 riots.

Candidates were being nominated for an entire new municipal government, comprising the nonpartisan offices of mayor, city council, clerk and treasurer.

Despite favorable weather, only about one-third of Detroit's 707,837 registered voters were expected to show up at the polls before they close at 8 p.m. (EST).

Wide-Open Contest Seen For Sen. Dirksen's Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans now anticipate a wide-open contest—with the White House likely to take an active role—for the Senate leadership left vacant by Everett M. Dirksen's death.

At least five GOP senators, and possibly more, are rated prospective candidates.

Republicans Mum
For the moment, and probably for the remainder of this Dirksen funeral week, no Republican senator is willing to talk frankly and publicly about the looming leadership race.

GOP sources indicated the prospective senators to succeed Dirksen are likely to wait, taking their own soundings of support, before deciding whether to openly enter the competition.

Although one senator said "It shouldn't take too long to contact 43 Republicans," indications are even the contact work won't begin immediately.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, now acting Republican leader, refused to discuss his possible candidacy to win the job permanently. "My responsibility is just to carry on until other arrangements are made," he said.

Conference Planned
Those arrangements will be made at a conference of Republican senators, not yet scheduled, to vote on Dirksen's successor.

The Liberal Republican Scott is certain to face a conservative challenge if, as expected, he bids for the top GOP job.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska and Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado are rated prime prospects among the more conservative Republicans. Sen. John Tower of Texas said he would be available but did not expect to be summoned to the task.

White House Interested
GOP sources said the White House certainly would be interested and involved in the Senate situation. One Republican said the administration would probably side with the more conservative wing of the party.

Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas, known to be interested in the leadership, is regarded as a possible compromise candidate. He is not closely identified with either wing of the party.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan is another man in the middle category. Griffin, however, has been in the Senate for only three years, and is regarded as a longshot possibility.

One senior Republican said he anticipated conservatives would join forces behind a single candidate, probably either Allott or Hruska, to avoid splintering their votes in a contest with Scott.

Another said wryly: "Maybe we should advertise."

Plans Readied For Burial Of Sen. Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — While a lonely marigold marks his vacant Senate desk, Everett M. Dirksen will lie in state today beneath the Capitol's soaring dome to receive the nation's tribute.

Dirksen, the Senate's Republican leader until his death Sunday, is the 21st American since Abraham Lincoln to be so honored.

Following the reading of the 23rd Psalm by Senate Chaplain the Rev. Dr. L. R. Elson, the Dirksen family asked President Nixon to deliver the eulogy for the man the President had called "my warm personal friend."

The casket, resting on the same catafalque that carried Lincoln's body and attended by a military honor guard, is to remain on view in the rotunda until, at noon Wednesday, it is carried by hearse to National Presbyterian Church for funeral services.

The senator's family has accepted the President's offer of his personal plane—Air Force One—to fly them and the senator's body to burial services Thursday at Pekin, Dirksen's small-town birthplace on the Illinois prairie.

However, Nixon will not attend the burial, sending Vice President Spiro T. Agnew instead.

Dirksen was the fourth senator to lie in state in the capitol rotunda. His casket rested on the black velvet catafalque that has borne the bodies of presidents, soldiers and statesmen since Lincoln's funeral, 104 years ago.

Monday morning, moments before the Senate's 11 o'clock opening, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine—who has made the rose she always wears her personal symbol—placed a long-stemmed marigold, tied with a white ribbon, on Dirksen's front-row desk.

Sen. Smith, who placed a rose on the desk President John F. Kennedy had used as a senator following his 1963 assassination, was one of many who remembered that Dirksen liked marigolds so much he made an annual Senate speech to unsuccessfully champion their cause.

Forest Supervisor Defends Plans For Sylvania Tract

"Sylvania is not being destroyed through over-development," contends Ralph Kizer, forest supervisor of Upper Michigan's Ottawa National Forest.

Speaking at a meeting of the Vilas County, Wis. Chamber of Commerce Monday night, Kizer described the Forest Service management plan for Sylvania as one which "allows for public use of Sylvania's resources while at the same time preserving its unique characteristics."

Kizer pointed out that in recent months, individuals and groups have expressed dissatisfaction with Forest Service goals for Sylvania. One such group from the Green Bay area, known as the "Save Our Sylvania Action Committee," (SOSAC), has undertaken a nationwide campaign to halt further developments in Sylvania pending a review of the Forest Service management plan by a panel of interested citizens.

Although it is not the stated purpose of SOSAC that Sylvania be "locked up," the group would like to see little or nothing done to encourage visitors to the area, Kizer said.

They would like to see Sylvania made a part of the Wilderness Preservation System, which would in effect rule out the development of any permanent types of facilities such as camping sites, boat ramps, picnic areas or toilets.

Contrary To Intent

Kizer contends that placing Sylvania in this category would be contrary to the stated intentions of the Forest Service when Sylvania was acquired in 1966. At that time, the numerous individuals, organizations, and units of Government which supported Forest Service acquisition of Sylvania did so with the understanding that Sylvania resource would be available for public use and enjoyment, he said.

Kizer also pointed out that the former owners had constructed a number of buildings, roads, and other facilities for their personal use, and that some timber had been cut from the tract over the years.

SOSAC has been critical of Forest Service development plans for Sylvania, contending that the area would be turned into a contemporary Coney Island. They fear that the proposed developments would attract a large number of visitors to the area, resulting in the ultimate destruction of Sylvania's unique features.

"We share the sincere concern of SOSAC in preserving the values which make Sylvania unique," Kizer stated. "However, we do not agree with the contention that Sylvania is being over-developed."

"A close look at the approved management plan will reveal that only a small portion of Sylvania is actually slated for development — only 4 per cent of the total land area. With few exceptions, these developments are located in the outer rim of Sylvania, resulting in almost no impact to the interior."

Kizer noted that some critics have charged the Forest Service with destroying the magnificent shoreline on Sylvania's 36 lakes through development. He points out that of Sylvania's 66 miles of shoreline, about 1/2 mile — less than one per cent — will actually be developed. Such development will provide the only real opportunity for picnicking and swimming within Sylvania.

Charges that "super highways" are being built into Sylvania are greatly exaggerated, said Kizer.

Road Relocated

"When the Forest Service acquired Sylvania, a narrow and crooked road provided the only means of access to the tract. This road also provided access to a number of established private resorts located further to the west. We have since relocated this road to the extreme northern perimeter of Sylvania, and we plan to obliterate large portions of the old road."

Kizer pointed out that no motor vehicles are allowed to use the interior road system of Sylvania — a system developed for use by the former owners. Most of these roads will be permitted to seed in naturally with trees and shrubs, and eventually become little more than foot trails.

A new boat launching ramp now being constructed on Crooked Lake has also come under fire, according to Kizer.

"This particular facility was designed to replace the extremely substandard and unsafe launching point which had been in existence for a number of years," he remarked. "It would not be reasonable to expect the public to continue using such a facility at the risk of personal injury. We have simply provided safe and convenient access for legitimate boat users on Crooked Lake. Its a miracle that a major accident hasn't already taken place at the old launching point."

Opinions Sought

Commenting on the development of the management plan, Kizer noted that "the Forest Service went to great lengths to explain its management proposals to a cross section of Americans. We were not only after public understanding — we wanted and solicited opinions, advice, ideas, thoughts, hunches — anything we could get from anybody who was interested. A lot of people were interested. The final plan reflects the thoughts and beliefs of many outstanding citizens."

Kizer also pointed out some of the safeguards which have been built into the Sylvania Management Plan as added insurance against the possible deterioration of Sylvania's magnificent resources. These include:

A water monitoring system designed for the early detection of possible pollution problems; Special fishing regulations to maintain quality fishing in Sylvania's lakes; Closing of most Sylvania lakes to the use of outboard motors; Closing of the existing interior road system to motor traffic; Installation of adequate sanitary systems to prevent the pollution of lakes and streams; Special restrictions on the harvest of timber, to include only winter logging; Removal of many buildings which had been constructed by the former owners and which have no value in the Forest Service management of the area.

Kizer expressed the commitment of the Forest Service to the proposition "that Sylvania and Sylvania's visitors will be managed in such a way that the extremely high quality of the areas resources will not deteriorate."

Ho's Will Asks Win Over American Gls

HONG KONG (AP) — Ho Chi Minh in a "final will" read today expressed sorrow at the split between the Soviet and the Chinese Communists and exhorted the Vietnamese people to "fight on until complete victory over the U.S. aggressors."

The North Vietnamese president's will, a political testament rather than a distribution of his property, was read by North Vietnamese Communist party secretary Le Duan at a memorial service held in Hanoi's Ba Dinh Square.

As broadcast by Hanoi Radio, Ho's will gave no hint of any choice of his successor and named no North Vietnamese Communists by name.

Hanoi had announced earlier that the party and the nation would be directed by a collective leadership which had been "carefully trained and selected" by Ho.

Without mentioning either Russia or China by name, Ho appealed to them to patch up their quarrel. He told his own Vietnamese Communist party that it should offer all help in reuniting and solidifying international communism.

"The more I feel proud and happy to see the growing strength of international communism and the working class," he said, "the more I feel deeply painful sorrow in my heart because of the present discordance between the fraternal parties."

"I hope that our party will do its utmost to cooperate and to contribute efficiently to the reconstruction of unity among the fraternal parties on the basis of Marxism-Leninism and international communism."

After calling on his party to carry on the war against the United States until final and complete victory, Ho told its leaders that the party "must have a good and workable plan to develop the economy and the culture of our nation in order to ceaselessly and continuously raise the life and standards of our people . . ."

"Once we defeat the U.S. aggressors, we must and will build 10 times more than now."

Ho said he was "absolutely certain that our people will be victorious, that the U.S. imperialist aggressors will be driven from our country, and that our fatherland—our compatriots in both the North and the South—will be reunified."

Vietnam will then go down "in history and have the great honor of being a small country that has bravely defeated two huge imperialist countries: France and the United States," he declared.

Schooling For Adults:

Diploma A Must For Advancement

To further inform the people of Escanaba, Steve Story, director of the Community School Program, is stressing the importance of high school completion and the opportunity available to adults who had their formal education interrupted.

"We might as well face it, even though the world is full of educated people who have made a success of life without a high school diploma does not make one person any less intelligent than another; for the majority of people, for those who aspire to better things for themselves, a high school diploma is a must," he said.

"The doors to advancement, new opportunities, and decent jobs are closed to many, many people because they lack the basic requirement employers are demanding today."

"In years past once a student left school, the door behind him swung shut. Sometime later he realized what he had done, but it was too late. The jobs available to him were limited. In a sense, he had discriminated against himself."

"Today, thousands of adults are breaking the educational discrimination barrier and improving themselves at the same time," Story said.

"The Community School provides the opportunity to continue one's education, to participate in the life of the community, and to make the community a better place to live."

"Any adult, regardless of age, residency, or previous schooling may attend classes. Those who will be seeking the high school diploma will be admitted free of charge," Story said.

Pre-registration is now underway at the Community School Office, Room 251, 1500 Ludington St., Escanaba. Further inquiries may be made by calling 786-4659 between 9 a. m., and 5 p. m. In Gladstone call Bob Richards at 425-3321.

Pollution Cause, Cure Discussed

Pollution of land, water and air was the topic of a talk by Kenneth Maki of the Bay de Noc Community College staff to the Kiwanis Club of Escanaba.

Maki defined pollution as residues of things we make, then use and throw away, that will or may affect our living. It is a tremendous problem and covers land, air and water. The ever increasing population has caused this problem, and one persons trash is sometimes discarded in another persons living area, he said.

If all pollutants were scattered in an uniform coat, the problem would be less apparent, but as it is, most pollution is immediately connected with large population. New chemicals are being produced so rapidly that toxicologists can't even arrive at their degree of pollution, much less their remedy.

Algae in the sea has helped to a great degree to produce consumable oxygen which has been decreased by pollution. Maki stated that defolients which are being used now in Vietnam could affect the sea's algae, especially if a ship load should sink, or the amount which reaches the sea from the flowage of the rivers, Maki continued.

Whether or not these pollutants are reversible or irreversible remains to be seen, and it may take many generations before we find out. The degree of cleanliness which we are striving for also must be balanced between cost and the unpleasant effects of pollution. Sometimes the correction of a pollution problem only creates another, such as the burning of trash. The whole problem is, Maki continued, that we are not consumers, just users of the materials.

Support by organizations such as the service clubs, especially in the areas of education can serve a tremendous purpose to anti-pollution, he added. This is the reason Bay de Noc Community College has also started teaching a two-year course on water and waste water technology, to help those in the field, and to add additional informed people to the field.

Water Diversion Into Great Lakes Will Be Studied

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken says the International Joint Commission has agreed to consider the question of Canadian diversion of water into the Great Lakes and will place the issue before the State Department.

Milliken has told Matthew E. Welsh, chairman of the U.S. section of the two-nation commission, that "critical erosion losses, particularly in lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior, are approaching the magnitude of problems this state experienced during the last high water period of the early 1950's."

The governor asked for a commission review of the problem and said all governmental agencies involved, both in Canada and the United States, "should avoid at every step activities which would cause rises in stage which are easily controlled by man."

Milliken announced Monday that Welsh told him "the issue which you raise concerning the upper limit of diversion into Lake Superior is deserving of (commission) consideration."

"Therefore," Welsh wrote Milliken, "I am bringing this matter to the attention of the State Department for such action as they deem appropriate."

SP5 ANTHONY J. CODY, the son of Lester J. Cody Sr. and the late Mrs. Cody of 520 S. 8th St., Escanaba, left for Oakland, Calif., on Sept. 4, to return to Vietnam. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in Vietnam on March 28 this year. He also received the Army Commendation Medal. He enlisted in 1967, trained at Fort Campbell, attended Quartermaster School, ended his initial tour of duty three months ago and requested reassignment to Vietnam.

Nation's Total Employment Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's total employment showed a modest increase in August, while the jobless rate remained almost unchanged, the government reported.

Total employment rose to 78.2 million for the month, an increase of 325,000 from July. The total number of unemployed was 2.9 million, 325,000 fewer than in July.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the jobless rate followed the usual July-August pattern as teen-agers began leaving the summertime job force. Thus, the over-all jobless rate was 3.5 per cent compared to 3.6 per cent in July.

Howard V. Stambler, a government analyst, said this slight decrease isn't significant.

Stambler said the growth in the economy is slowing down in terms of employment, but declined to characterize it as an easing of inflationary pressures.

He said the figures represent a slowing down in the rate of growth when compared to the rapid increases reported last year and early this year.

The bureau also reported that average earnings of rank and file workers were unchanged in August at $3.04 per hour. But due to a longer work week, average weekly earnings increased by 61 cents to $116.43. Since last August, average hourly earnings have risen by 19 cents and weekly earnings by $7.27.

However, the bureau has reported all along that because of inflation, purchasing power has declined.

Public Hearing

Lake What?

Last spring, a ceremony on the shores of Mud Lake in Chocoma Township east of Marquette marked the official changing of the name of that body of water to Lake LeVasseur to honor the late Lloyd LaVasseur of Marquette, who was a dedicated public servant, an accomplished sportsman and a wonderful human being.

The lake's new name not only gave a deserved recognition to one of Marquette County's exceptional citizens, but also eliminated one more Mud Lake from the literally hundreds of Mud Lakes in Michigan.

Testifying to a lack of imagination on the part of some of the settlers of Michigan, there actually are more than 300 Mud Lakes in the Wolverine State. Baraga County alone has seven Mud Lakes. Oakland County has almost twice as many — 13.

Mud isn't the only overworked lake name in Michigan. There are dozens of Long Lakes, Round Lakes, Square Lakes, Perch Lakes, Trout Lakes, Middle Lakes, etc. The names lack distinction and often lead to confusion. Take the case of Bass Lake in Marquette County, for instance. There is one Bass Lake a few miles east of Gwinn and another a few miles west of Gwinn. Many a person has driven to Bass Lake, only to discover it is the wrong Bass Lake.

It is only natural, of course, that a state like Michigan, which has more than 11,000 inland lakes, would encounter much duplication in their names. But shouldn't something be done about it?

Paul Lutzier of Detroit, an educator and public relations specialist, thinks it is time for the Great Lake State to embark on a comprehensive program to give individualistic and colorful names to its many lakes. Writing in the Sunday Detroit News Magazine recently, he asked, "Why haven't imaginative citizens, planners and developers in this great winter and summer vacationland found more ingenious names for these thousands of beautiful lakes?"

Naturally — with 11,000 names to work with — some waters happily have been given imaginative and colorful names. In the Upper Peninsula, for example, there are such striking names as Glimmerglass, Sun Dance, Deadman, Ink Pot, Ox Yoke and Thousand Island Lakes, all in Gogebic County; Gunpowder, Bedspring and Bulldog Lakes in Marquette County; High-life Lake in Baraga County; Duel Lake in Mackinac County; Fanny Hooe Lake in Keweenaw County; Billy Good Lake in Delta County; Never Hunt Lake in Dickinson County and Dutch Fred Lake in Luce County.

But, as Lutzier points out, there are far too many lackluster names. He asks, "Why shouldn't we start a campaign to change the names of plain Green Lakes to Kelly Green, Bottle Green or Vert, Vividan, Vividescent, Apple Green, Aquagreen, Shamrock Green or to happily salute the Irish and rename them Shannon, Limerick, Cork, Kilkenny or Tipperary?"

Lutzier explains how to go about having a lake name changed. The first step is to petition the county board of supervisors. After the name change has been approved on the county level, the change must be approved by the Michigan Committee of Geographic Names, Geological Survey Division, Department of Natural Resources. Finally, federal approval is needed. If the U. S. Geographic Board in Washington approves the action, the new name will be used on all future official maps.

It's a long and somewhat involved process, but it is worth the effort.

If America Leaves

The fate of thousands of South Vietnamese, if America pulls out of the war short of military victory or an effective guarantee of peace, is not difficult to imagine.

In January, 1968, Communist forces captured the old imperial city of Hue and held it for 25 days. When American and South Vietnamese troops finally drove them back into the countryside, more than 3,000 civilians — many of them Hue's political leaders, teachers, doctors, and religious and cultural leaders — were missing.

At first it was believed they had been captured and detained by the Communists. Then the terrible truth became apparent.

Hue authorities began to find mass graves, and in the weeks following the Communist retreat they discovered more than 2,000 bodies. The total is expected to reach 3,000 or 4,000 before the digging ends.

As events have been pieced together from testimony of survivors, the North Vietnamese conducted a systematic search of the city for people considered capable of providing anti-Communist or non-Communist leadership. Often political cadres appeared at the homes of intended victims and invited them to indoctrination meetings.

"Meeting places" turned out to be open trenches. In the final days of Communist occupation, as defeat neared, terror and murder reportedly became indiscriminate and unpredictable.

Hanoi has virtually admitted what occurred. Last April, Hanoi Radio boasted that bodies found near Hue were "hooligan lackeys who had owed blood debts to the ... Hue compatriots and who were annihilated by the Southern armed (Viet Cong and North Vietnamese) forces ... (last) spring."

The people of Hue, however, thought better of the murdered civilians. Thousands of grief-stricken people participated in processions honoring the victims of Communist terror.

The Hue massacre is but a sample of the fate that awaits thousands of South Vietnamese if the United States retreats from its commitments. If the people who have trusted us perish in a Communist blood bath, there is hardly a nation in the world that would want to be our ally.

Part II

Unrest On Campus, A Look Behind It

(John Chamberlain is on vacation. Today's column is the second of an essay by a prominent member of the junior class at Columbia University.)

By FREDERICK K. LOWELL

In spite of the SDS-ers' paranoic reliance on the conspiracy theory of history (they fear the CIA, the FBI, and the military in much the same way extreme rightists fear Communists), many sincerely believe their own rhetoric. One student suggested that they are like little children who have just wakened to the fact that the world is imperfect and, as a result, seek to right every wrong with a crusading zeal.

Though some SDS-ers believe their own rhetoric, one can sense certain falsehood in movement. If someone handed them rifles in a genuine revolution, it is doubtful how committed they would be. They, who for the most part have never seen a foreign country, who have no conception of what it is like to be so hungry or so cold that sleep is impossible, who have no idea how much freedom of dissent they have in this country as compared to other nations, cannot possibly conceive of a real revolution. It is questionable how militant they would be once the streets were flowing with blood, once famine set in, once widespread destruction took place stemming from a revolutionary situation in this country.

One is also struck by the totalitarian aspects of the SDS movement. This is evident in Bloom Brothers were again last night picked up for speeding by Motor Cop Elmer Swanson and following their arrest claimed the speed cop has picked them out for special attention while others are not molested. The garage men claimed last night that other flagrant violators of the speed laws should be entitled to more attention than they are, as on numerous occasions they had seen motorists making 36 miles per hour in the city and were not arrested.

Prosecuting Attorney Torval E. Strom has appointed a fair price committee for Delta County. A fair price list will be compiled and published as it was during the war and charges in excess of the figures given in the fair price list would be considered unfair, but just what steps will be taken, if any such charges are made, has not been disclosed.

the tactics they employ, which consist entirely of depriving other students and other groups of their basic rights and freedoms. Even SDS's claim of participatory democracy within the movement is a myth; a small group of individuals control each campus SDS group and control each "action."

SDS's totalitarian goals can be seen in their philosophy, which borrows the worst aspects of Marxist, Leninist, and Stalinist thought. The true character of SDS was recently revealed by a question that a Columbia student directed to an SDS member. He asked, "If you succeed in setting up a Marxist University, am I free to be a non-Marxist?" The answer, "Yes but we will struggle against you," which, in SDS rhetoric, means elimination.

At Columbia, in the last two years, members of SDS have committed the following crimes:

1. Criminal trespass
2. Breaking and entering
3. Assault and battery
4. Arson
5. Vandalism
6. Destruction of personal property

SAVE OUR AIR

(Editor's Note: Besides triggering letters to the Daily Press, the recent story by Jim Phillips on the "Save Our Air" committee efforts in Delta County prompted many letters to John Walbridge of Escanaba, spokesman for the committee quoted in the article by Phillips. Some of those letters are reprinted here.)

The enclosed articles were recently in the Albany, Ore., newspaper:

I hope you win your fight against the paper mill. The best of luck to you.

We have had a Kraft mill in our town for 14 years. It is the major cause of smog here in the valley, not to mention the horrible smell. In addition, during the winter time the fumes hug the ground for miles, causing many fatal accidents on the freeway adjacent to the mill. This is the "fog" that is mentioned in one of the enclosed articles.

As usual, the public relations people connected with the mill have promised to install "anti-smell" devices and they allegedly did so, but no one has noticed any change at all except maybe for the worse as the mill expands gradually, anyway.

Your town has a reputation for the cleanest air. Our town has just the opposite reputation.

I recently returned from living in Honolulu for four years. Naturally, I met many people from all over the world there. The only thing they could remember of the people who had been through or heard of Albany was the rotten paper mill.

Sure they promise lots of work and many $$$ for the community —

But as we have experienced

7. Burglary (removal of documents from the president's office)

8. Violation of a court order (to evacuate occupied buildings)

The flagrant violation of the rights of Columbia students has been due partly because of the inaction of college officials and partly because of the apathy of the students body.

But this is changing. College administrations across the country are realizing the need for orderly progress on the college campuses, and students are beginning to actively oppose SDS and other disruptive groups.

SDS will continue to test the resolve of college administrations to protect the rights of students and faculty. If that resolve proves to be again weak, then another wave of violence and hysteria will eat at the roots of higher education. Students, faculty, and administrators must band together to resist disruption, and in so doing, make it clear that there is a better, surer way toward reform. If they cannot do this, education and academic freedom will not survive.

LETTERS TO THE PRESS

—property values drop to rock bottom in a radius for miles from the mill in the heavy concentration of fumes.

But as the land is so cheap and ruined for living purposes, other companies buy up the land and build more industrial plants that cause more smog and more smell.

And the fumes rust out cars and ruin the paint on houses and cars as well. Not to mention the human lungs.

I live about five miles from the mill and sometimes can't sleep at night even with the windows closed, due to the stench.

So the best of luck to all of you. No one bothered to fight the mill when it came to our town. Now we have to pay $1 million in taxes to make the freeway "safe," thanks to Kraft.

Fight, fight, fight to save your town as well as your air! In traveling to Baie St. Paul in Canada we have twice gone through a paper mill town (can't recall name—wanted too much to forget it!) and the smell from the mill is so nauseous and revolting that we were sick—not only for ourselves but for the poor people who had to live there.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

A defender must keep a sharp lookout at all times to attain consistently good results. Much more imagination is required of the defenders, who do not see each other's cards, than of the declarer, who sees all his values before him.

West led the king of diamonds and East had much to think about. West was marked by his lead with the queen of diamonds, but since it was obvious that South's values were largely distributed, there was no certainty that two diamond tricks could be won. There was also the possibility that the ace of clubs would not score a trick, because declarer might be void.

After considering the matter fully, East concluded that if declarer held as many as two diamonds, it would be possible to beat him even if he were void of clubs. On this basis, he therefore overtook West's king with the ace and returned the jack of hearts.

East's plan was to obtain a heart ruff, after taking the ace of spades, by putting West on lead with the queen of diamonds for a heart return.

It was certainly a well-conceived plan, especially since overtaking the king of diamonds with the ace, followed by the heart return, would leave West in no doubt about the purpose of the play.

The plan would surely have succeeded except that South, alerted to the incipient danger, found a countermeasure to upset East's scheme. He won the heart in dummy and led the king of clubs!

East played the ace, but South, instead of ruffing, deposited a diamond. There was now no way for West to get in and give East a heart ruff.

Declarer ruffed the diamond return and led the jack of spades, letting it ride. East won with the ace—the third ace he had scored—but he was now out of business. So South made four spades in a hand that was extremely well played by both sides.

Ann Landers

Woman Prays For A Major Accident

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me what is wrong with a woman who, after 12 years of marriage, still asks her husband if he wants mustard or mayonnaise on his ham and cheese sandwich. Also, she cannot seem to remember whether he prefers it on white or rye.

Five years ago I told my wife to ask the dry cleaners not to crease my sleeves. More often than not the suits come back with the sleeves creased. Her excuse: "They must have forgot."

This same woman expects me to remember her birthday, our wedding anniversary, Valentine's Day, Mother's Day and Ground Hog Day because that is the day we met.

We argue a lot and get nowhere. What does this sound like to you?—Hal

Dear Hal: The average American family.

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in your advice to the woman whose husband thought vacations were for getting drunk. He insisted on annual cross-country motor trips with the whole family in the car and he wouldn't let anyone else drive. The big jerk started on beer immediately after breakfast and was bombed (at the wheel yet) every day for two weeks.

You suggested that the woman pray for a minor accident—one in which nobody is injured, but one that would teach her beer-guzzler a lesson.

For the past six years I have been praying for a major accident—one that would put my husband in the hospital for six months. He gets smashed at least five nights a week and makes life hell for everybody. I can't remember the last time I had an uninterrupted night's sleep. My husband comes home anywhere from midnight to 4:00 A. M., cusses, throws furniture and demands that I look him supper. How he manages to get up in the morning and do a day's work is beyond me. I don't drink a drop and I'm half dead from exhaustion. I have begged him to get help but he refuses. Once you printed the name of an organization for wives who must live with alcoholics. I clipped it out and misplaced it. Will you print it again please?—Frazzled Nerves

Dear Frazz: The name of the organization is Al-Anon. The national headquarters are in New York. The address is P. O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, New York 10010. Write and find out where and when you can attend a meeting. It could change your life and his, too.

Dear Ann Landers: I know you don't write a health column but you seem to know a little bit about a lot of things. I'll bet you can answer my question.

Is it true that eating large quantities of grapefruit will make a person thin, in the same way that eating rich desserts will make a person fat? My friend says it is so and she backs up her statement by explaining that grapefruit is a catabolic food and burns up fat. Right or wrong?—On The Heavy Side

Dear On: Wrong. I know of no food that will make a person thin. If you are "on the heavy side," don't look for gimmicks. See a doctor and get on a sensible diet.

Confidential to Sewed My Wild Oats: Pray for a crop failure, Buddy. It is too late to "do anything." No, I do not believe that you are "rotten to the core." You sound like a normal guy who used very poor judgment.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Lake What?

Last spring, a ceremony on the shores of Mud Lake in Chocoma Township east of Marquette marked the official changing of the name of that body of water to Lake LeVasseur to honor the late Lloyd LaVasseur of Marquette, who was a dedicated public servant, an accomplished sportsman and a wonderful human being.

The lake's new name not only gave a deserved recognition to one of Marquette County's exceptional citizens, but also eliminated one more Mud Lake from the literally hundreds of Mud Lakes in Michigan.

Testifying to a lack of imagination on the part of some of the settlers of Michigan, there actually are more than 300 Mud Lakes in the Wolverine State. Baraga County alone has seven Mud Lakes. Oakland County has almost twice as many — 13.

Mud isn't the only overworked lake name in Michigan. There are dozens of Long Lakes, Round Lakes, Square Lakes, Perch Lakes, Trout Lakes, Middle Lakes, etc. The names lack distinction and often lead to confusion. Take the case of Bass Lake in Marquette County, for instance. There is one Bass Lake a few miles east of Gwinn and another a few miles west of Gwinn. Many a person has driven to Bass Lake, only to discover it is the wrong Bass Lake.

It is only natural, of course, that a state like Michigan, which has more than 11,000 inland lakes, would encounter much duplication in their names. But shouldn't something be done about it?

Paul Lutzier of Detroit, an educator and public relations specialist, thinks it is time for the Great Lake State to embark on a comprehensive program to give individualistic and colorful names to its many lakes. Writing in the Sunday Detroit News Magazine recently, he asked, "Why haven't imaginative citizens, planners and developers in this great winter and summer vacationland found more ingenious names for these thousands of beautiful lakes?"

Naturally — with 11,000 names to work with — some waters happily have been given imaginative and colorful names. In the Upper Peninsula, for example, there are such striking names as Glimmerglass, Sun Dance, Deadman, Ink Pot, Ox Yoke and Thousand Island Lakes, all in Gogebic County; Gunpowder, Bedspring and Bulldog Lakes in Marquette County; High-life Lake in Baraga County; Duel Lake in Mackinac County; Fanny Hooe Lake in Keweenaw County; Billy Good Lake in Delta County; Never Hunt Lake in Dickinson County and Dutch Fred Lake in Luce County.

But, as Lutzier points out, there are far too many lackluster names. He asks, "Why shouldn't we start a campaign to change the names of plain Green Lakes to Kelly Green, Bottle Green or Vert, Vividan, Vividescent, Apple Green, Aquagreen, Shamrock Green or to happily salute the Irish and rename them Shannon, Limerick, Cork, Kilkenny or Tipperary?"

Lutzier explains how to go about having a lake name changed. The first step is to petition the county board of supervisors. After the name change has been approved on the county level, the change must be approved by the Michigan Committee of Geographic Names, Geological Survey Division, Department of Natural Resources. Finally, federal approval is needed. If the U. S. Geographic Board in Washington approves the action, the new name will be used on all future official maps.

It's a long and somewhat involved process, but it is worth the effort.

If America Leaves

The fate of thousands of South Vietnamese, if America pulls out of the war short of military victory or an effective guarantee of peace, is not difficult to imagine.

In January, 1968, Communist forces captured the old imperial city of Hue and held it for 25 days. When American and South Vietnamese troops finally drove them back into the countryside, more than 3,000 civilians — many of them Hue's political leaders, teachers, doctors, and religious and cultural leaders — were missing.

At first it was believed they had been captured and detained by the Communists. Then the terrible truth became apparent.

Hue authorities began to find mass graves, and in the weeks following the Communist retreat they discovered more than 2,000 bodies. The total is expected to reach 3,000 or 4,000 before the digging ends.

As events have been pieced together from testimony of survivors, the North Vietnamese conducted a systematic search of the city for people considered capable of providing anti-Communist or non-Communist leadership. Often political cadres appeared at the homes of intended victims and invited them to indoctrination meetings.

"Meeting places" turned out to be open trenches. In the final days of Communist occupation, as defeat neared, terror and murder reportedly became indiscriminate and unpredictable.

Hanoi has virtually admitted what occurred. Last April, Hanoi Radio boasted that bodies found near Hue were "hooligan lackeys who had owed blood debts to the ... Hue patriots and who were annihilated by the Southern armed (Viet Cong and North Vietnamese) forces ... (last) spring."

The people of Hue, however, thought better of the murdered civilians. Thousands of grief-stricken people participated in processions honoring the victims of Communist terror.

The Hue massacre is but a sample of the fate that awaits thousands of South Vietnamese if the United States retreats from its commitments. If the people who have trusted us perish in a Communist blood bath, there is hardly a nation in the world that would want to be our ally.

Unrest On Campus, A Look Behind It

By FREDERICK K. LOWELL

In spite of the SDS-ers' paranoid reliance on the conspiracy theory of history (they fear the CIA, the FBI, and the military in much the same way extreme rightists fear Communists), many sincerely believe their own rhetoric. One student suggested that they are like little children who have just awakened to the fact that the world is imperfect and, as a result, seek to right every wrong with a crusading zeal.

Though some SDS-ers believe their own rhetoric, one can sense certain falsehood in movement. If someone handed them rifles in a genuine revolution, it is doubtful how committed they would be. They, who for the most part have never seen a foreign country, who have no conception of what it is like to be so hungry or so cold that sleep is impossible, who have no idea how much freedom of dissent they have in this country as compared to other nations, cannot possibly conceive of a real revolution. It is questionable how militant they would be once the streets were flowing with blood, once famine set in, once widespread destruction took place stemming from a revolutionary situation in this country.

One is also struck by the totalitarian aspects of the SDS movement. This is evident in Bloom Brothers were again last night picked up for speeding by Motor Cop Elmer Swanson and following their arrest claimed the speed cop has picked them out for special attention while others are not molested. The garage men claimed last night that other flagrant violators of the speed laws should be entitled to more attention than they are, as on numerous occasions they had seen motorists making 36 miles per hour in the city and were not arrested.

Prosecuting Attorney Torval E. Strom has appointed a fair price committee for Delta County. A fair price list will be compiled and published as it was during the war and charges in excess of the figures given in the fair price list would be considered unfair, but just what steps will be taken, if any such charges are made, has not been disclosed.

the tactics they employ, which consist entirely of depriving other students and other groups of their basic rights and freedoms. Even SDS's claim of participatory democracy within the movement is a myth; a small group of individuals control each campus SDS group and control each "action."

SDS's totalitarian goals can be seen in their philosophy, which borrows the worst aspects of Marxist, Leninist, and Stalinist thought. The true character of SDS was recently revealed by a question that a Columbia student directed to an SDS member. He asked, "If you succeed in setting up a Marxist University, am I free to be a non-Marxist?" The answer, "Yes but we will struggle against you," which, in SDS rhetoric, means elimination.

At Columbia, in the last two years, members of SDS have committed the following crimes:

1. Criminal trespass
2. Breaking and entering
3. Assault and battery
4. Arson
5. Vandalism

Letters To The Press

SAVE OUR AIR
(Editor's Note: Besides triggering letters to the Daily Press, the recent story by Associated Press staff writer Jim Phillips on the "Save Our Air" committee efforts in Delta County prompted many letters to John Walbridge of Escanaba, spokesman for the committee quoted in the article by Phillips. Some of those letters are reprinted here.)

The enclosed articles were recently in the Albany, Ore., newspaper:

I hope you win your fight against the paper mill. The best of luck to you.

We have had a kraft mill in our town for 14 years. It is the major cause of smog here in the valley, not to mention the horrible smell. In addition, during the winter time the fumes hug the ground for miles, causing many fatal accidents on the freeway adjacent to the mill. This is the "fog" that is mentioned in one of the enclosed articles.

As usual, the public relations people connected with the mill have promised to install "anti-smell" devices and they allegedly did so, but no one has noticed any change at all except maybe for the worse as the mill expands gradually, anyway.

Your town has a reputation for the cleanest air. Our town has just the opposite reputation.

I recently returned from living in Honolulu for four years. Naturally, I met many people from all over the world there. The only thing they could remember of the people who had been through or heard of Albany was the rotten paper mill.

Sure they promise lots of work and many $$$ for the community — But as we have experienced —property values drop to rock bottom in a radius for miles from the mill in the heavy concentration of fumes.

But as the land is so cheap and ruined for living purposes, other companies buy up the land and build more industrial plants that cause more smog and more smell.

And the fumes rust out cars and ruin the paint on houses and cars as well. Not to mention the human lungs.

I live about five miles from the mill and sometimes can't sleep at night even with the windows closed, due to the stench.

So the best of luck to all of you. No one bothered to fight the mill when it came to our town. Now we have to pay $1 million in taxes to make the freeway "safe," thanks to kraft.

Fight, fight, fight to save your town as well as your air! In traveling to Baie St. Paul in Canada we have twice gone through a paper mill town (can't recall name—wanted too much to forget it!) and the smell from the mill is so nauseous and revolting that we were sick—not only for ourselves but for the poor people who had to live there.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

A defender must keep a sharp lookout at all times to attain consistently good results. Much more imagination is required of the defenders, who do not see each other's cards, than of the declarer, who sees all his values before him.

West led the king of diamonds and East had much to think about. West was marked by his lead with the queen of diamonds, but, since it was obvious that South's values were largely distributional, there was no certainty that two diamond tricks could be won. There was also the possibility that the ace of clubs would not score a trick, because declarer might be void.

After considering the matter fully, East concluded that if declarer held as many as two diamonds, it would be possible to beat him even if he were void of clubs. On this basis, he therefore overtook West's king with the ace and returned the jack of hearts.

East's plan was to obtain a heart ruff, after taking the ace of spades, by putting West on lead with the queen of diamonds for a heart return.

It was certainly a well-conceived plan, especially since overtaking the king of diamonds with the ace, followed by the heart return, would leave West in no doubt about the purpose of the play.

The plan would surely have succeeded except that South, alerted to the incipient danger, found a countermeasure to upset East's scheme. He won the heart in dummy and led the king of clubs!

East played the ace, but South, instead of ruffing, deposited a diamond. There was now no way for West to get in and give East a heart ruff.

Declarer ruffed the diamond return and led the jack of spades, letting it ride. East won with the ace—the third ace he had scored—but he was now out of business. So South made four spades in a hand that was extremely well played by both sides.

Ann Landers

Woman Prays For A Major Accident

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me what is wrong with a woman who, after 12 years of marriage, still asks her husband if he wants mustard or mayonnaise on his ham and cheese sandwich. Also, she cannot seem to remember whether he prefers it on white or rye.

Five years ago I told my wife to ask the dry cleaners not to crease my sleeves. More often than not the suits come back with the sleeves creased. Her excuse: "They must have forgotten."

This same woman expects me to remember her birthday, our wedding anniversary, Valentine's Day, Mother's Day and Ground Hog Day because that is the day we met.

We argue a lot and get nowhere. What does this sound like to you?—Hal

Dear Hal: The average American family.

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in your advice to the woman whose husband thought vacations were for getting drunk. He insisted on annual cross-country motor trips with the whole family in the car and he wouldn't let anyone else drive. The big jerk started on beer immediately after breakfast and was bombed (at the wheel yet) every day for two weeks.

You suggested that the woman pray for a minor accident—one in which nobody is injured, but one that would teach her beer-guzzler a lesson.

For the past six years I have been praying for a major accident—one that would put my husband in the hospital for six months. He gets smashed at least five nights a week and makes life hell for everybody. I can't remember the last time I had an uninterrupted night's sleep. My husband comes home anywhere from midnight to 4:00 A. M., cusses, throws furniture and demands that I cook him supper. How he manages to get up in the morning and do a day's work is beyond me.

I don't drink a drop and I'm half dead from exhaustion. I have begged him to get help but he refuses. Once you printed the name of an organization for wives who must live with alcoholics, I clipped it out and misplaced it. Will you print it again please?—Frazzled Nerves

Dear Frazz: The name of the organization is Al-Anon. The national headquarters are in New York. The address is P. O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, New York 10010. Write and find out where and when you can attend a meeting. It could change your life and his, too.

Dear Ann Landers: I know you don't write a health column but you seem to know a little bit about a lot of things. I'll bet you can answer my question.

Is it true that eating large quantities of grapefruit will make a person thin, in the same way that eating rich desserts will make a person fat? My friend says it is so and she backs up her statement by explaining that grapefruit is a catabolic food and burns up fat. Right or wrong?—On The Heavy Side

Dear On: Wrong. I know of no food that will make a person thin. If you are "on the heavy side," don't look for gimmicks. See a doctor and get on a sensible diet.

Confidential to Sewed My Wild Oats: Pray for a crop failure, Buddy. It is too late to "do anything." No, I do not believe that you are "rotten to the core." You sound like a normal guy who used very poor judgment.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

GM Will Invest $77 Million In Foreign Field

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—General Motors Corp. of the United States plans to invest 77 million in Argentina to build a low-priced Chevrolet car.

General Motors Argentina, a subsidiary of General Motors Corp., now builds a medium-sized, compact car known here as the Chevrolet Super.

A group of General Motors executives has called on Economy Minister Jose Maria Dagnino Pastore to inform him of plans to expand their plant in suburban San Martin and build a new one in Tucuman province, in Northern Argentina. A GM spokesman said the plant expansion will allow a daily production of 21 cars instead of 10 produced now.

'Dragnet' To Be Used As Scheme Corrective

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley says he will use film from the televised "Dragnet" program to warn Michigan residents of the dangers of "pyramid franchise schemes" or chain letter-type operations.

"Our office has been flooded with inquiries and complaints regarding certain companies now recruiting distributors for various pyramid schemes," Kelley said.

Knowledge Needed
"We feel that the best protection for the consumer is to have sufficient knowledge of the method of operation of these plans so that they may be aware of the potential dangers involved," he said.

A Kelley explained the pyramid franchise scheme as a "vast chain letter, a scheme that emphasizes distribution rather than a product. "People who are solicited are told they will receive bonuses to induce others to join the system," he said. "But experience has shown that only those at the very top ever earn any money."

Investments Lost
"Those below the very top, in the schemes we've heard about, not only don't earn any money but lose their entire investments," he said.

Kelley said the "Dragnet" episode, to be shown in eight cities later this month, "explains in clear and understandable terms the pitfalls of some of these pyramid operations." The attorney general is scheduled to kick off the Michigan "Dragnet" series personally with a breakfast meeting Wednesday at Flint.

HAPPINESS IS new clothing to these orphans in Bangkok, Thailand, sitting on boxes of clothing from K. I. Sawyer AFB. With the children is the sponsor of the children's home. (USAF Photo)

Clothing From Air Base Adorns Thailand Orphans

K. I. SAWYER—The combined efforts of an Air Force noncommissioned officer in Thailand and St. Anne's Sodality at K. I. Sawyer have provided 500 pounds of clothing for orphans in Bangkok, Thailand.

Heading the drive from Thailand was T. Sgt. Alben J. Nikles, a former member of the 2001st communications Squadron at Sawyer, now stationed at Don Muang Air Base, Thailand and his wife, Sylvia, now living at Sawyer.

Sgt. Nikles' squadron sponsors the Pierra Child Welfare and Maternity Foundation orphanage. Recalling how the clothing drive started, Mrs. Nikles said, "My husband wrote me a letter and said they needed clothing and asked me if possibly I could find an organization on base that would help. I mentioned it at a board meeting of the Sodality," she added, "and everybody just hopped on the band wagon and said 'that's a fine idea.'"

Collection of the clothes took about five weeks. All the clothes were washed, mended, boxed and then shipped. Included were a multitude of different types of children's clothing including pants, shirts, dresses and sweaters. All sizes were collected as the children range in ages from infants to teenagers.

Among those who worked in the clothing project were Mrs. James Plueger, Mrs. Jay Weinkauf, Mrs. Harold Speckmaier and Mrs. Richard Cavanaugh. Donations came from other people on the base who were not members of the Sodality.

The reaction to the clothing by the orphans themselves was overwhelming.

"When they brought the boxes out, they kind of made a presentation out of it," Mrs. Nikles added. "Then they opened two (of six) boxes and started taking the clothes out and trying them on the children. Then he (her husband) said after that, all of the kids were trying to get into the boxes to see what was in them."

"Your heart felt concern and generosity has brought happiness to the children and has

Hanna Mining Not To Reduce Iron Ore Price

The Hanna Mining Co. does not propose to reduce the price of its Lake Superior District natural ore on Jan. 1, 1970, or absorb any increases in transportation costs.

Two weeks ago, a reduction of 75 cents per ton in the price of natural ores was announced by a major steel company which operates its own ore mines. This would lower its price for Mesabi Range unscreened ore to $9.80 a ton next year, or approximately the price level of 1953.

James N. Purse, Hanna Mining sales vice president, said, "We have studied all aspects of the situation and have concluded that a price reduction is not warranted and cannot be justified."

Hanna Mining is the nation's largest independent producer of iron ore, the bulk of its production being high grade iron ore pellets. As it has increased its pellet production over the last four years its shipments of natural ores have declined.

This year the company expects to sell for its own account more than 6 million tons of pellets and about 1 million tons of Lake Superior natural ore.

Services Held For Mrs. Lyons

Mrs. Fred J. LeClaire has returned to her home in Monticello, Miss., after attending funeral services for her aunt, Mrs. Theresa Lyons in Kingsford.

Mrs. Lyons died Sept. 3 in Monticello. She was born June 20, 1880 and was a former resident of Kingsford. She was a member of St. Mary's Guild Circle of the American Martyrs Church of Kingsford.

Survivors include five nieces, Mrs. Clarence Sheedlo, Mrs. Johnny Eagles, Mrs. Louis Dwyer, Mrs. George LaBrasseur and Mrs. Fred J. LeClaire and two nephews, Robert and Bud Murray.

Conducting the funeral services was the Rev. John G. Hughes, pastor of the American Martyrs Church.

Getting Students Into World Problems Aim Of New School Plans

COLUMBIA, Md. (AP) — Described as "an alternative to higher education", Antioch-Columbia begins operations next month with a format designed to get its students involved in the world.

The college, a branch of Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio, will require full-time work in jobs outside the school, use of facilities such as libraries and laboratories already in the area and encourage its students to become financially independent of their parents.

Red Cross Asks Gift Items For Men In Vietnam

The Delta County Chapter of the Red Cross today appealed to groups and individuals for items for "ditty bags" gifts which will be sent to help brighten Christmas for men in service in Vietnam.

The bags will be sewn by volunteers, members of the Mennonite Sewing Circle of Soo Hill.

Needed for the bags are gift items such as ballpoint pens, pen-size flashlight batteries, small pen knives, windproof type cigarette lighters, small pack of writing paper with self-seal envelopes, terry washcloth other than white or red, plastic cigarette case.

Comb, small tins of nuts or non-melting candles vacuum packed, pocket-size games, small decks of playing cards, chess, pinhole, etc; pocket or diary type calendars, adhesive bandages, batteries (long type) for transistor radio, white cotton socks and suction type soap holders.

Items should be delivered to the Red Cross, or they will be picked up if this is requested by calling 786-3214.

"Many colleges and universities stand as citadels in their town or city settings," explained Morris Keeton, an Antioch vice president and chief administrator of the Columbia experiment.

"Our program will be deliberately dispersed, encouraging as much fruitful interaction as possible with the people and institutions of the region," he said.

At the Yellow Springs campus students take classroom studies alternately with three-month stretches of full-time work. To graduate they must accumulate 90 hours of full-time work in addition to 100 credit hours of instruction.

The Columbia branch, however, will put less emphasis on formal instruction and more on employment, preferably in fields related to the "fields of interest" the school offers in place of majors. These fields include documentary arts, contemporary human problems, environmental sciences and community education.

"Rather than a collection of buildings, people and other resources in a specific geographical location," Keeton said, "Antioch-Columbia will be primarily a means for enabling people to learn and test their learning in concrete situations."

The school offers the talents of its students, on a contractual basis, to local businesses. In addition to fulfilling the outside work requirement, this enables the students to help meet the cost of their education, which the school encourages.

Even if parents can afford the $4,500-$6,000 a year, Keeton estimates it will cost students to attend Antioch-Columbia, they are encouraged to donate to the school's funds rather than directly support their children's education.

"We believe that many students are emotionally crippled today by their dependence upon their parents or others for tuition and support," Keeton said.

Next University Head?

Williams Could Face Opposition At MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — A group of faculty and students has told the Michigan State University Board of Trustees that former Gov. G. Mennen Williams would face an "insurmountable handicap" and widespread campus opposition if appointed president of the school.

Statement Issued

A statement issued Monday and signed by Dr. Dale E. Hathaway, chairman of a faculty and student committee to recommend candidates for the position said selection of Williams or that selection of Williams or anyone not on the committee's recommended list "would be totally unacceptable to the faculty and students of Michigan State University."

"A president chosen in such a high-handed manner would enter upon his duties under an insurmountable handicap which would make it impossible for him to carry out the responsibilities of his office," the statement adds.

Williams, governor from 1949 to 1960 and recently ambassador to the Philippines, reportedly has been pushed strongly for the job by State AFL-CIO head August Scholle.

Report Denied

Board Chairman Don Stevens, an AFL-CIO state official, denied reports that he was told by Scholle to work for Williams' selection for the post vacated earlier this year after the resignation of John A. Hannah.

Hannah was named by President Richard Nixon to head the U.S. Agency for International Development. Dr. Walter Adams of the MSU Economics Department was appointed acting president until a successor is found.

Scholle Not Involved

Williams Monday denied being contacted by the board about the MSU post.

Ask Referendum On Parochialism

LANSING (AP) — Antiparochial forces are launching what they call a "public opinion petition drive" aimed at putting the question of state aid to nonpublic schools before the voters next year.

"This is not a legal petition," explained Mrs. Harriett Phillips, chairman of the council opposing parochialism. "We're just asking the legislators to put the question on the ballot as a referendum."

Petitions, mailed out last week to interested member organizations, also include the statement that signers oppose parochialism, she noted. Mrs. Phillips said the council includes several organizations that have taken official positions against the controversial proposal to give state funds to nonpublic schools.

Mrs. Phillips' list of council members included: The Michigan Association of School Boards, Michigan Education Association, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Committee to Aid Public Education, American Civil Liberties Union and state groups for elementary school principals, school administrators and secondary school principals.

Scholle denied involvement in any move to nominate Williams. Kenneth Thompson, one of three Republicans on the eight-member board, said he had been "advised" there was pressure to choose Williams. Thompson, however, said he "really didn't know" the type of pressure reportedly applied.

House Speaker William A. Ryan said Monday that he personally considered Williams "an ideal" choice. Ryan also denied knowledge of union support for the former governor.

Copper Range Co. Ups Copper Price

NEW YORK (AP) — Kennecott Sales Corp. joined Monday in raising the price of copper, making the move industrywide. Kennecott Sales, a subsidiary of Kennecott Copper Corp., the biggest U.S. producer, raised its price of full plate electrolytic copper cathodes to 51 cents a pound from 47 cents.

This is the equivalent of 52½ cents a pound for wire bar, the standard of pricing used by other companies.

Most major producers last week boosted their prices to 52 cents a pound from 48 cents in the fourth increase this year.

Copper Range Co., the fifth ranking U.S. producer, hiked its price Monday to 56 cents a pound from 50 cents.

GARY RUDDEN, U.S. Navy disbursing clerk, is reporting for duty at Providence, R.I., after a seven-day leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rudden of 1518 Stephenson Ave. He recently completed basic training at Great Lakes, Ill., and will board ship at Providence to cruise South American waters. He is a 1969 graduate of Escanaba Area Public High School.

Pollution Talks To Reconvene Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal-state enforcement conference seeking to abate pollution of Lake Superior will be reconvened Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel announced today.

He said representatives of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and the federal government will hold the meeting in Duluth, Minn. The public is invited. The conference met originally in Duluth last May and heard testimony for three days.

Robbery Suspect

PETOSKEY (AP) — A 19-year-old Petoskey youth, Fred Kuntz, is being held on $1,000 bond after being charged with the armed robbery of a tavern owner.

Authorities said Tony Kolinski told them he was asleep at his home Aug. 26 when a youth, brandishing a butcher knife, robbed him of his wallet and automobile.

Kuntz surrendered to State Police in Flint Sunday.

CUBAN STYLE

HAVANA (AP) — Men's hair styles in Cuba this year call for longer sideburns and the elimination of the square cut across the neck, says the Bureau of Fashion Orientation. The bureau gave this guideline in a new newspaper series and said it would have more fashion advice in the future.

Farmers Being Told Of Under 16 Working Permit

LANSING (AP) — Michigan farmers have been reminded that with the start of the school year, they can only hire youngsters under 16 to work outside of school hours.

"The law applies to migrants as well as local children so both may get the education needed in today's society," said Francis Quigley, of the U.S. Labor Department wage-hour division.

Quigley said the division currently is conducting a campaign to make sure young farm workers return to school.

Even youths who have completed special 4-H Club courses in tractor and other farm equipment operation and vocational agriculture students under 16 may not work during school hours, he said.

Quigley added this does not affect children who work on home farms for their parents or guardians.

Coronary Care Funds Granted

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A statewide program is being initiated with a $383,520 grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek to train hospital staffs for specialized care of coronary patients.

The foundation has committed an additional $300,000 to assist community hospitals in setting up and equipping coronary care units after the professionals are trained.

Last year, 15,595 of Michigan's 76,811 deaths — 20 per cent — were attributed to coronary attacks, according to State Health Department statistics.

Dr. Ralph E. Lewis, of the University of Michigan department of post graduate medicine, who will coordinate the statewide program, said, with standard hospital care 30 to 40 per cent of the coronary victims die, but with experienced coronary care units serving hospitals, only 11 to 20 per cent die.

Next University Head? Williams Could Face Opposition At MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — A group of faculty and students has told the Michigan State University Board of Trustees that former Gov. G. Mennen Williams would face an "insurmountable handicap" and widespread campus opposition if appointed president of the school.

Statement Issued

A statement issued Monday and signed by Dr. Dale E. Hathaway, chairman of a faculty and student committee to recommend candidates for the position said selection of Williams or that selection of Williams or anyone not on the committee's

Ask Referendum On Parochialism

LANSING (AP) — Antiparochial forces are launching what they call a "public opinion petition drive" aimed at putting the question of state aid to nonpublic schools before the voters next year.

"This is not a legal petition," explained Mrs. Harriett Phillips, chairman of the council opposing parochialism. "We're just asking the legislators to put the question on the ballot as a referendum."

Petitions, mailed out last week to interested member organizations, also include the statement that signers oppose parochialism, she noted. Mrs. Phillips said the council includes several organizations that have taken official positions against the controversial proposal to give state funds to nonpublic schools.

Mrs. Phillips' list of council members included: The Michigan Association of School Boards, Michigan Education Association, Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Committee to Aid Public Education, American Civil Liberties Union and state groups for elementary school principals, school administrators and secondary school principals.

Pollution Talks To Reconvene Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal-state enforcement conference seeking to abate pollution of Lake Superior will be reconvened Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel announced today.

He said representatives of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and the federal government will hold the meeting in Duluth, Minn. The public is invited.

The conference met originally in Duluth last May and heard testimony for three days.

Robbery Suspect

PETOSKEY (AP) — A 19-year-old Petoskey youth, Fred Kuntz, is being held on $1,000 bond after being charged with the armed robbery of a tavern owner.

Authorities said Tony Kolinski told them he was asleep at his home Aug. 26 when a youth, brandishing a butcher knife, robbed him of his wallet and automobile.

Kuntz surrendered to State Police in Flint Sunday.

CUBAN STYLE

HAVANA (AP) — Men's hair styles in Cuba this year call for longer sideburns and the elimination of the square cut across the neck, says the Bureau of Fashion Orientation. The bureau gave this guideline in a new newspaper series and said it would have more fashion advice in the future.

Farmers Being Told Of Under 16 Working Permit

LANSING (AP) — Michigan farmers have been reminded that with the start of the school year, they can only hire youngsters under 16 to work outside of school hours.

"The law applies to migrants as well as local children so both may get the education needed in today's society," said Francis Quigley, of the U.S. Labor Department wage-hour division.

Quigley said the division currently is conducting a campaign to make sure young farm workers return to school.

Even youths who have completed special 4-H Club courses in tractor and other farm equipment operation and vocational agriculture students under 16 may not work during school hours, he said.

Quigley added this does not affect children who work on home farms for their parents or guardians.

Coronary Care Funds Granted

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A statewide program is being initiated with a $383,520 grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek to train hospital staffs for specialized care of coronary patients.

The foundation has committed an additional $300,000 to assist community hospitals in setting up and equipping coronary care units after the professionals are trained.

Last year, 15,595 of Michigan's 76,811 deaths — 20 per cent — were attributed to coronary attacks, according to State Health Department statistics.

Dr. Ralph E. Lewis, of the University of Michigan department of post graduate medicine, who will coordinate the statewide program, said, with standard hospital care 30 to 40 per cent of the coronary victims die, but with experienced coronary care units serving hospitals, only 11 to 20 per cent die.

Joe Garagiola—Average Man—Only With Brains

By MEL HEIMER

When you say that Joe Garagiola is the funniest, wittiest baseball player who ever lived, it's not as small-potatoes a compliment as it might seem at first. Dizzy Dean, Whitey Ford, Lefty Gomez and others in the strange trade of bat and ball would have been able to hold up pretty well in a Marx brothers movie.

But the good-looking, bald (the two words CAN go together) Joe, who is the interviewer par excellence for NBC's "Today" TV show, is much more than that. He reads more books than you, I and Bergen Evans put together, he is as clear a thinker as Shaw and clearer than, say, Marcuse and McLuhan and he makes a hundred and fifty thousand bucks a year.

"I'm the permanent altar boy at the 5 a. m. mass," Garagiola says with a grin—and a devout Catholic, he doesn't end his joking about his religion there. He had a bad plane trip once and said "I had rope burns from my rosary." After riding a horse once, he said stopping it was easy. "You just pull back like this and start 'Our Father, Who are in Heaven,'" he said. Naturally fellow Catholics love him, just as Jews dig Myron Cohen and his garment-district jokes.

In a small office with a cluttered bulletin board (on the ceiling he has tacked pictures of his own baseball hall of fame—Clinton, Bryan and Barker, three worthies who never really made it big), Joe slouches in a rust-colored suit, puffs on a cigar and discusses his modus operandi.

"I think like a viewer," he says. "You know how when you're home watching a TV interview, questions come to your mind and you want to ask the guy, only you can't? Well, I'm lucky; I'm right there and I can ask questions. I suppose if I have any particular audience in mind, it's an audience of guys like me."

When, for instance, he interviews someone plumping for early sex education of school-kids, he thinks like a father. "Like a Father," he repeats. "Not a parent. Anybody can be a parent. Being a father is something else again." And so, to an erudite, learned pedant, he is apt to say almost plaintively "Yeah, but who's gonna teach this stuff? You might have a sex nut on your hands. Believe me, most fathers would love to have the school or church take over the chore of telling about the birds and the bees. But you want to make sure it's done right." Joe's talk at times would be Runyonese, except Runyon's characters never had his intellectual capacity. A high school graduate, he is enormously well read ("I even read books I don't have to; what a luxury!") and he hasn't been out of his depth at all discussing capital punishment with Ramsey Clark or politics with William Buckley. To each of them, he brings his Mr. Average Man outlook—yet by all means, he is something more than an average man.

JOE GARAGIOLA'S .257 batting average would make him a high-priced ballplayer if he were playing today—but it still would not come close to the loot he makes from TV and radio.

What many viewers appreciate is Garagiola's habit of not going along with an interviewer's statement, and saying "I see," when he doesn't see. He speaks up. And he can blow a gasket in a righteous cause. When one militant writer said on air that hatred of Negroes was a fact of life among the Jews, Joe almost yelled "I won't hold still for that!"

With his wife Audrie and three children, Garagiola lives in suburban Scarsdale, N. Y. in a beautiful six-bedroom house—filled with books. He keeps fit by exercising and playing golf.

The vague dreams of the future include doing an hour-long special, having his own show and maybe even owning a radio station. He's come so far from the days when he went to Holy Name and B'nai

GE Appliances Will Cost More

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Most of General Electric's major appliances will carry higher wholesale price tags when the new lines are presented to distributors on Sept. 22.

The price increase, GE said Monday, were caused by rapidly spiraling costs. GE said the prices of range, dishwasher, refrigerator, freezer and home laundry lines will go up an average of three per cent. There are no changes planned in the price of TV sets, the company added, but their price structure is under review.

When GE brought out a 1970 model room air conditioner this summer, it carried a higher price than the previous model. The company later raised prices on all its then current room units and central air conditioning equipment by an average of five per cent.

Body Recovered

FRANKFORT (AP)—The body of the second of two Hope teenagers who drowned while swimming over the Labor Day weekend has been recovered off the Leelanau peninsula.

The victim was identified as 17-year-old Lee Mervindorf. The body of his swimming companion, Rick McCoy, was found last Thursday near the mouth of the Frankfort harbor. The two disappeared while swimming in Lake Michigan off Benzie County.

Return From Pole

WINNIPEG (AP)—Dr. George E. Bauer of the University of Michigan was among nine members of the Admiral Richard E. Byrd Society who returned here over the weekend after a three-week air trip to the North Pole.

The group's trip is intended to serve as a starting point for the society's polar center, opened in Boston last year.

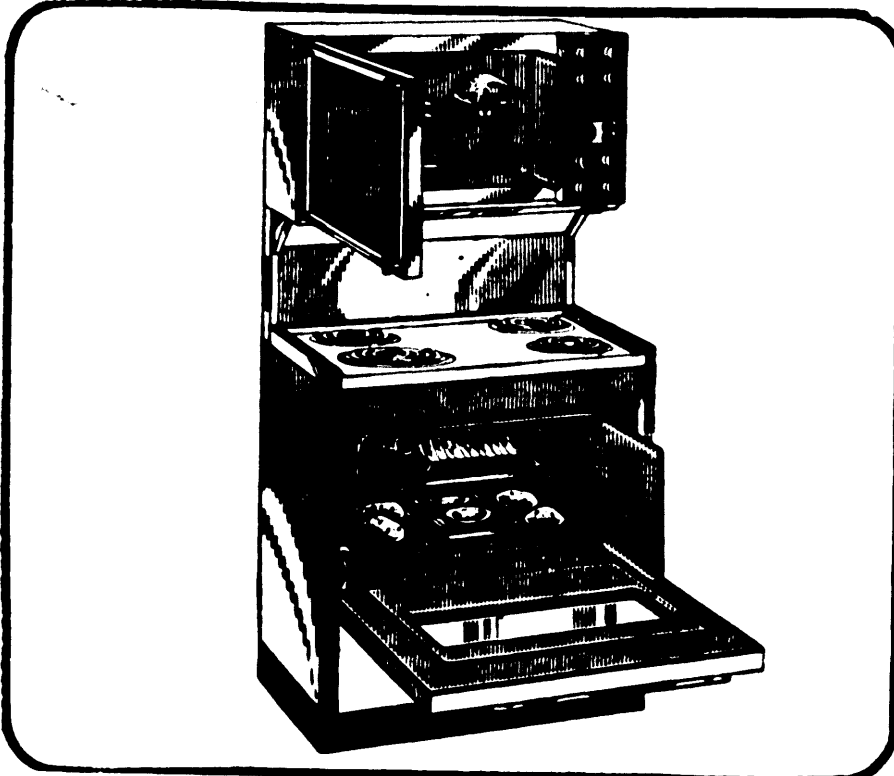

PATIENCE, PATIENTS—These four sets of twins at a hospital in Toledo, Ohio, are making the patients see double. They are among more than 200 candy striper—volunteer workers—at the hospital this summer. Apartment Unit Is Considered For Gladstone GLADSTONE — The housing situation in Gladstone may be improved if plans for an eight apartment complex on Michigan Ave. near Fairview Manor materialize.

Reappraisal of the city-owned lots in the east end will be made after State Wide Real Estate notified the City Commission Monday night that it is interested in purchasing lots to construct an apartment building compatible to the public housing unit in the area.

City Manager H. J. Henrikson said the lots in question will not affect the construction of another public housing unit adjacent to Fairview Manor.

Buy Police Car
The Commission accepted the lone bid of Riverside Auto Sales for a police cruiser in the amount of $2,858. The price includes the trade-in of the old police car. The Commission considered re-advertising for bids since other area dealers failed to submit bids, but voted 3-2 to proceed with the opening.

On recommendation of the Superintendent of public works and city mechanic the city has purchased a GMC six-cylinder, half-ton pickup truck from Town & Country Motors of Escanaba at a cost of $2,078.

Complaints Voiced
Henrikson recommended equipping the truck with a two-way radio at a cost of about $500 and the commission authorized its purchase.

Dr. Maniaci Is Recognized For Aid To Retarded

Dr. George Maniaci, retiring president of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children, was presented with a plaque in appreciation of his services to the organization at the 18th annual meeting recently.

Dr. Maniaci served the Association for the past two years. Dr. and Mrs. Maniaci and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Koehler of Gladstone attended the one-day session.

About 200 delegates were present for the meeting that included the election of Harold J. Bergman of Birmingham, as president. The Association has brought increasing public awareness of the plight of retarded children in Michigan.

The next primary effort is toward recognition of the problem of Michigan's retarded adults.

The Commission accepted the lone bid of Riverside Auto Sales for a police cruiser in the amount of $2,858. The price includes the trade-in of the old police car. The Commission considered re-advertising for bids since other area dealers failed to submit bids, but voted 3-2 to proceed with the opening.

On recommendation of the Superintendent of public works and city mechanic the city has purchased a GMC six-cylinder, half-ton pickup truck from Town & Country Motors of Escanaba at a cost of $2,078.

Complaints Voiced
Henrikson recommended equipping the truck with a two-way radio at a cost of about $500 and the commission authorized its purchase.

Complaints of cracking around expansion joints in recently installed curb and gutter were reported at the public hearing on special assessments and engineers will be contacted to check the work before assessments are approved. The public hearing will be continued at the next regular meeting, Sept. 22, and all persons with complaints should notify Henrikson in writing immediately in order to have the inspection completed.

In other business, the Commission recommended a meeting with John Besse of Northern Michigan Spliced Veneers to work out a sub-lease agreement for storage space in their building in the Industrial Park; approved payment of money paid into the retirement fund by Leslie Young, who is terminating his employment with the city at the power plant, and authorized Paul Cowen, music department director at Gladstone High School, to paint markings for marching drill on Montana Ave. adjacent to the James T. Jones school.

Report Delayed
The progress report on the water filtration plant was not available since engineers were unable to attend the meeting, but payments to Champion, Inc., in the amount of $55,524; Universal Tank Co., $23,400; and William & Works, engineers, $2,229, were approved. Another $1,560 was approved to finance a change in the project.

Pamela Anne Eldred, Ideal Miss America

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Miss America is a 21-year-old girl who has never felt the generation gap; a beautiful blonde who has never had a steady boy friend; a college student who has had no contact with student revolt, and a would-be musical comedy dancer who doesn't want to see "Hair."

Pamela Anne Eldred is, in other words, an ideal Miss America.

Finish College
And when she finishes her year as the nation's reigning beauty, green-eyed Pamela wants to finish college, and maybe do graduate work before she even thinks about the stage or a movie contract.

During the first New York news conference, Pamela was asked what she thought of the Miss Black America pageant, and replied that she thought it was "very nice."

She said she believed there would be a black Miss America some day.

"When a girl deserves to win it, she will win it," Pamela added. "It's not just a beauty pageant-a girl has to be ambitious as other people."

Asked her opinion of the feminists who picketed the Atlantic City pageant, burned bras and castigated the pageant as glorifying "brainless" girls, Pamela said she never saw the demonstrators and couldn't comment.

Encourages A Girl!

"But I do know," she said, "that the girls that participated in the pageant were wonderful girls. I'll never forget the week I spent with them. The Miss America pageant gives a girl something to work for, it encourages a girl."

"I love my country," she added, "and I'd like to do something for it."

Typically, Miss America 1970 said she never dreamed she would end up the winner and was just waiting to hear her name called as a runner-up.

As she took her first walk down the platform as the new queen, she said, "it was hard to believe—I was so numb, when someone asked me if I had cried, I didn't know. But someone told me I had."

Protection By U.S. Advocated

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger said today that Western Europe must look indefinitely to the nuclear and conventional might of the United States for protection.

"Europe will not be able to do without the protection of American weapons—conventional as well as atomic—for an indefinite period," the West German government chief said in response to a series of written questions from The Associated Press.

The chancellor observed that a large-scale reduction of the American presence in Europe "would be of considerable consequences" and not for West Germany only.

The burden of European defense costs would rise considerably if the United States greatly reduced its contribution in men and funds. Asked if West Germany would be willing to bear such increased defense costs, Kiesinger replied:

"The political unification of Europe is the answer to your question. European and American members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must jointly develop a long-range concept that excludes dangerous risks to the security of all members of the alliance."

He indicated that he thinks President Nixon is going along with a stand Kiesinger has already made public: that America should lead, not dominate, Europe. Asked which he thought the United States was doing, Kiesinger replied:

"The American President shares my view and his policies are in accord with our mutual conviction."

Court 'Corners' Boycott Leader

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Mrs. Phyllis Scott, one of the leaders of a black boycott in Grand Rapids schools, has been ordered to appear in circuit court Friday to show cause why her three children are not in class.

Mrs. Scott's ex-husband, police detective Robert Scott, contended in a civil suit that she is breaking terms of their divorce by keeping the children out of school.

Judge Stuart Hoffius ordered Mrs. Scott to appear in court to explain why her divorce "should not be amended to provide proper control of her minor children or why she should not be held in contempt of court."

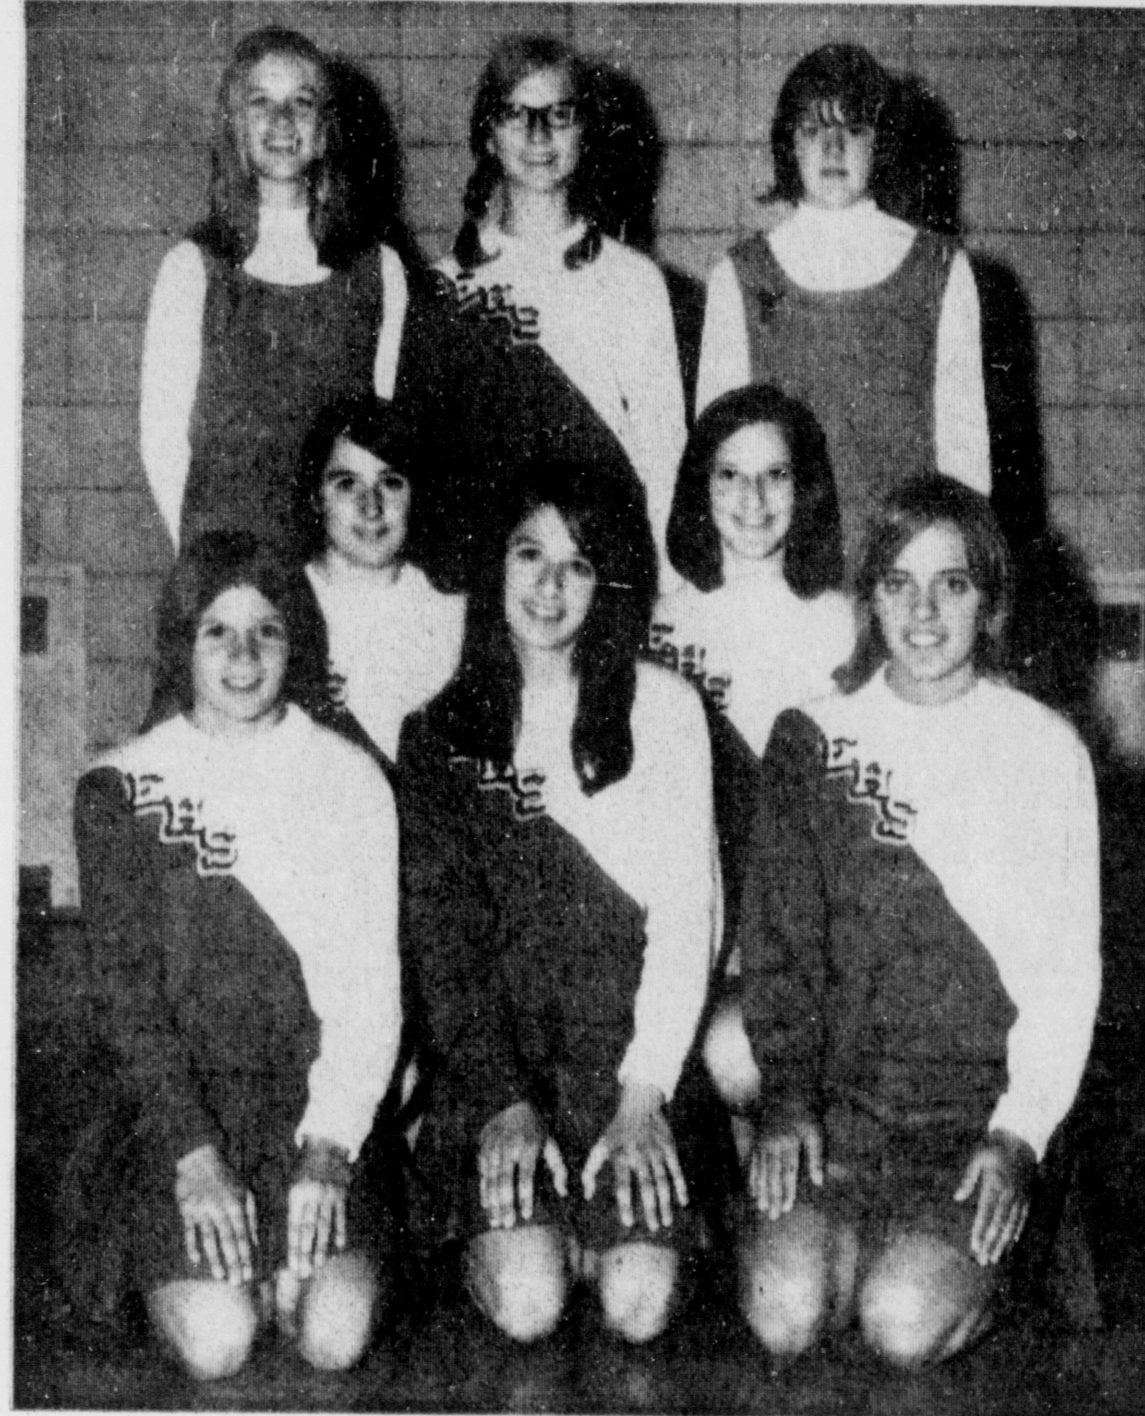

Scott also contended in his suit that Mrs. Scott has "failed to properly supervise the welfare and education of their children."

South Korean Students Riot

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Rock-hurling students battled riot police for three hours on the streets of Seoul today as the students continued their protest against a third term for President Chung Hee Park.

Gas-masked riot policemen fired scores of tear gas shells into about 1,000 Yonsei University students. Three thousand girls from the women's university cheered and some of them supplied rocks to the Yonsei boys.

Scores of students and policemen were hurt.

The university suspended classes for an indefinite period. A total of 16 colleges and universities now have closed because of demonstrations since the fall term began.

Commerce Group Backs Sault Plans

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Michigan Commerce Department and Upper Peninsula businessmen have joined forces in an effort to try to interest some 1,552 industries across the country in locating plants on the 6,000-acre Kinchloe Air Force Base.

Located outside Sault Ste. Marie, the base is to be closed in 1970 as part of a Defense Department plan to reduce operating costs.

The 12,000-man base employed several hundred civilian residents and had an estimated annual payroll of $24 million.

The Commerce Department's Office of Economic Expansion has prepared a 24-page booklet describing the facility, the area and its developmental potential.

Facilities of the base include more than one million square yards of runways and 27,000 square yards of space in seven warehouses.

Waits 25 Years For Phone Call - Wrong Number

BRUNSVILLE, Va. (AP) — For 25 years John H. Folks, 69, waited for this remote Allegheny Mountain community to establish telephone service. In August, when the Williamsville Mountain Grove Telephone Co. made the final hookup, Folks was one of the first to have his phone installed.

After two weeks of waiting, his phone finally rang.

It was the wrong number.

Yanks Planning Offensive Halt

SAIGON (AP) — American forces probably will continue to curtail their offensive operations if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese maintain their present low level of activity after the truce for the funeral of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh ends Thursday, U.S. sources said today.

"We want to keep the negotiating door open," said one ranking officer. "We're not looking for fights. We're just trying to provide an atmosphere for pacification and security, and if the other side decides to keep things secure, we couldn't be happier."

Only light action was reported across South Vietnam today in the second day of the truce. But U.S. officials considered it most unlikely that the enemy would continue the cease-fire long after the announced expiration time.

Since Ho's death last Wednesday, Radio Hanoi and the Viet Cong Radio have exhorted his followers repeatedly to keep up the fight until U.S. forces are driven from Vietnam and the Saigon regime is crushed. And the old leader's will, read today at a memorial service in Hanoi, called on the people to "fight on until complete victory over the U. S. aggressions," something Ho said might take a "prolonged time and require still more sacrifices in manpower and property."

The U.S. Command said that since the Viet Cong cease-fire began at 1 a. m. Monday, the enemy had made 10 significant attacks on American forces. U.S. casualties in these actions were put at four killed and 29 wounded, while two enemy were known dead.

Firm Reports Fund Machine

DETROIT (AP) — There may be no money tree. But there is a money machine.

The Burroughs Corp. is making and distributing it.

Burroughs announced today it has acquired Speytec Ltd., of Croydon, England, and that its facilities are being expanded to produce more of what it describes as "cash dispensing machines of advanced design."

Burroughs explained:

"The cash dispensing machine enables a depositor to obtain a certain amount of cash at any hour of the day or night from machines placed at a bank or other strategic locations."

"Key to the automatic dispensing of funds is a bank card embossed with a customer's account number and carrying related information in a magnetic tape. When the card is inserted in the machine, account information is automatically read and a predetermined amount of money disbursed on the spot."

"Advanced security features designed into the system protects both the bank and the customer against unauthorized use. Future models will operate online with the bank's computer system."

Burroughs said the Midland Bank Ltd., of England, had ordered 500 money machines.

Farmers Use Spray To Help Firemen

SPARTA (AP) — Farmers using their orchard spraying equipment helped firemen prevent the spread of flames which destroyed an apple storage building here Monday night.

Sparta Fire Chief Gale Taylor said the blaze caused $80,000 to $100,000 damage. Taylor said the flames were out of control by the time firemen were called. They controlled the blaze after a four-hour struggle.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately but a state fire marshal was called to the scene. The building contained no apples because picking of fruit for storage will not begin for about 10 days.

Soccer Bribery Charge Cause Of Italian Upheaval

CASERTA, Italy (AP) — Demonstrators battled police today for the second straight day after setting fires in protest of a bribery charge that set back the local soccer team. Parts of the town were wrecked by the fires and its 39,000 people were on strike.

About 2,000 demonstrators broke through police lines and halted traffic on the Rome-Caserta-Naples railway line, which had been restored to service under police guard during the night.

Dirksen's Pet Projects Fade

WASHINGTON (AP) — The death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen may mark the fading of some of the late Senate Republican leader's pet projects—namely overturning two controversial Supreme Court decisions.

Dirksen was the champion of constitutional amendments which would undo high court rulings banning official prayers in public schools and requiring that state legislators be elected on an equal population basis.

At the time of his death Sunday, the Illinois senator had been unsuccessful, but he was still pushing the amendments which would:

—Permit one house of each state legislature to be apportioned on the basis of factors other than population.

—Make it clear that non-denominational prayer is permissible in schools and other public buildings.

A prayer amendment he proposed in 1966 won a 49-37 vote in the Senate, but this was eight short of the two-thirds majority needed.

His proposal would have provided that nothing in the Constitution "shall prohibit the authority administering any school, school system, educational institution or other public building supported in whole or in part through the expenditure of public funds from providing for or permitting the voluntary participation by students or others in prayer."

He also was hoping, despite two defeats in the Senate, for passage of the amendment to wipe out the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote rulings.

Police Go To Aid Of Office Group

DETROIT (AP) — Under police protection, the Wayne County Department of Social Services reopened its Detroit offices today. They had been closed since Friday because of demonstrating mothers receiving aid to dependent children.

Closing followed a march by mothers through the first and second floors, clapping their hand and singing and in some cases, employees said, making threats.

Wakefield School Dispute Unsolved

By The Associated Press

Contract settlements in Royal Oak and Saginaw the largest two school districts closed this month by teacher contract disputes, today reduced to nine the number of Michigan school districts threatened with no school this week because of labor problems.

The Michigan Education Association said 108 districts still did not have contracts.

There are still more than 35,500 students across the state facing school shut-downs. Over 1,600 teachers are involved.

Districts closed by strikes or lockouts include:

Summerfield, Montague, Cornunna, Pinconning, Wakefield, Harper Woods, East Detroit, Dearborn No. 7, and Westwood.

Short term visitors such as cabinet members stayed principally at a luxury resort hotel at Newport Beach, about 30 minutes drive up the Pacific coast. During last week's cabinet meeting at San Clemente, for example, 35 rooms were taken at the plush hotel for two nights each.

A steady stream of visitors came to San Clemente during the month. For example: Six newly appointed ambassadors on Aug. 19th; the Advisory Council on Executive Reorganization Aug. 20th; the Urban Affairs Council Aug. 25th; top economic advisers Aug. 28th.

Groups such as the six ambassadors flew individually from their homes throughout the country by commercial plane. If such visitors live in the west, the cost was less than going to Washington—and thus a deduction against other added costs of the western operation.

Some top administration officials, such as Attorney General John Mitchell and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, rented homes for the month at up to $1,000—the bulk of which they paid themselves since the costs exceed the standard $16 per day government allowance for meals, lodging and miscellaneous expenses of traveling officials.

Seven such homes were made available by local residents who agreed to take their vacations during Nixon's presence, said inn owner Presley who helped make the arrangements.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Gary Brown, 4, Monroe, Mich., died in Flower Hospital Monday night of injuries received in an auto accident Sunday that claimed the life of his mother.

Elvira Jane Brown, 26, was killed outright in the two-car crash at a rural intersection just across the state line in Erie Township.

Students Learn Firearm Safety

One-hour assembly programs on firearm safety, clothing from the standpoint of comfort and color, and survival hints were presented to 2,140 junior and senior high school boys and girls at Escanaba Area Senior and Junior High Schools Monday.

The programs were part of a series being presented by the Department of Natural Resources in an attempt to decrease hunting accidents and to increase understanding and enjoyment of the use of firearms and the out of doors. The program was presented by conservation officers Frank Opolka, Max Fenby and Thomas Safford of the Escanaba district.

Students participating from the senior high school were Gene Timmer, Lynn Collins, Bill Dubord, Mike Dupont and Ed Gafner. They dressed in different types of hunting outfits, and assisted in the program and acted out several skits.

Realism was added to the fast-moving program by the use of evergreen trees on stands, a portable fence and firearms.

Although firearm accidents always will accompany the use of guns, the percentage of accidents has been reduced by about 75 per cent since the firearm safety assembly program was started in 1952, officers said.

The program was scheduled today at Holy Name High School, Wednesday at Gladstone, Thursday at Rapid River and Friday at the Big Bay de Noc High School at Nahma.

Protection By U.S. Advocated

BOON, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt-Georg Kiesinger said today that Western Europe must look indefinitely to the nuclear and conventional might of the United States for protection.

"Europe will not be able to do without the protection of American weapons—conventional as well as atomic—for an indefinite period," the West German government chief said in response to a series of written questions from The Associated Press.

The chancellor observed that a large-scale reduction of the American presence in Europe "would be of considerable consequences" and not for West Germany only.

The burden of European defense costs would rise considerably if the United States greatly reduced its contribution in men and funds. Asked if West Germany would be willing to bear such increased defense costs, Kiesinger replied:

Expand Hearing, Speech Service

The Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District announces the departmentalization of speech and hearing services within the district to coordinate the services of the speech therapists and teacher counselors for the deaf and hard of hearing.

The department is directed by Richard Olsen, director of special education and David Featheringill, coordinator, who also serves as speech therapist. Featheringill has his master's degree from Central Michigan University and has worked for several years in the Iosco Intermediate School District as a speech therapist.

Mrs. Carol Cleveland who has a bachelors degree from the University of Minnesota, Duluth Branch and comes to the Intermediate District from the Sault Ste. Marie Public Schools. Miss Leona Dougherty, chairman of the Department of Arts and Letters at Bay de Noc Community College, also serves as part time speech therapist and will certify the case loads for the other therapists.

The teacher counselor for the deaf and hard of hearing is Mrs. Helmi Lepisto who taught last year at Rock, and has also taught several years at the School for the Deaf in Flint.

By departmentalizing the services of speech and hearing it is hoped there will be greater services offered to the community since there will be an organized effort to work with both speech and hearing problems throughout the two county area. The speech therapists, and the teacher counselor for the deaf and hard of hearing will work through the local schools in assisting children with speech and hearing problems.

The teacher counselor for the deaf and hard of hearing will concentrate her efforts on the pre-school deaf and hard of hearing children, which will complement the services of the Escanaba Area Public Schools who work with elementary age deaf and hard of hearing children.

The department will soon conduct a thorough screening throughout the Intermediate School District to determine the number of children who need services of either the speech therapists or the teacher counselor for the deaf and hard of hearing. All personnel within the department will be involved in the screening program and will go to the schools as a team to test and evaluate the children on the basis of a simple phonic analysis.

Parents are encouraged to work through their local school districts with children who they suspect may have speech problems, since the Intermediate Office works directly through the local school districts. If they suspect the child has a speech problem it is best to check with the teacher or principal in the school in which the child is located. Should a pre-school age child be suspected to have hearing problems, it is suggested parents contact the Intermediate Office or the Department of Health which has done extensive hearing screening in the past.

LANSING (AP) — Michigan draft boards have been ordered to deliver 2,816 men for induction into the Army and Marine Corps in October. Col. Arthur Holmes, state Selective Service director, announced today.

The October call will be filled primarily from single men and men married after Aug. 25, 1965. Those called will be between 19 and 25 with the oldest selected first.

Local boards also may accept volunteers between the ages of 17 and 25.

The October call compared with previous drafts of: January, 1,997; February, 2,512; March, 2,532; April, 2,452; May, 2,054; June 2,147; July, 2,106; August, 2,860 and September, 2,594.

An additional 7,188 men were called for preinduction examinations during October.

The call by counties in the Upper Peninsula: Alger 4, Baraga 6, Chippewa 11, Delta 8, Dickinson 8, Gogebic 17, Houghton 5, Iron 1, Keweenaw 0, Luce 0, Mackinac 0, Marquette 5, Menominee 7, Ontonagon 0 and Schoolcraft 4.

Commerce Group Backs Sault Plans

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Michigan Commerce Department and Upper Peninsula businessmen have joined forces in an effort to try to interest some 1,552 industries across the country in locating plants on the 6,000-acre Kitchel Air Force Base.

Located outside Sault Ste. Marie, the base is to be closed in 1970 as part of a Defense Department plan to reduce operating costs.

The 12,000-man base employed several hundred civilian residents and had an estimated annual payroll of $24 million.

The Commerce Department's Office of Economic Expansion has prepared a 24-page booklet describing the facility, the area and its developmental potential. Facilities of the base include more than one million square yards of runways and 27,000 square yards of space in seven warehouses.

Waits 25 Years For Phone Call - Wrong Number

BRUNSVILLE, Va. (AP) — For 25 years John H. Folks, 69, waited for this remote Allegheny Mountain community to establish telephone service. In August, when the Williamsville Mountain Telephone Co. made the final hookups, Folks was one of the first to have his phone installed.

After two weeks of waiting, his phone finally rang.

It was the wrong number.

Yanks Planning Offensive Halt

SAIGON (AP) — American forces probably will continue to curtail their offensive operations if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese maintain their present low level of activity after the truce for the funeral of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh ends Thursday, U.S. sources said today.

"We want to keep the negotiating door open," said one ranking officer. "We're not looking for fights. We're just trying to provide an atmosphere for pacification and security, and if the other side decides to keep things secure, we couldn't be happier."

Only light action was reported across South Vietnam today in the second day of the truce. But U.S. officials considered it most unlikely that the enemy would continue the cease-fire long after the announced expiration time.

Since Ho's death last Wednesday, Radio Hanoi and the Viet Cong Radio have exhorted his followers repeatedly to keep up the fight until U.S. forces are driven from Vietnam and the Saigon regime is crushed. And the old leader's will, read today at a memorial service in Hanoi, called on the people to "fight on until complete victory over the U. S. aggressions," something Ho said might take a "prolonged time and require still more sacrifices in manpower and property."

The U.S. Command said that since the Viet Cong cease-fire began at 1 a. m. Monday, the enemy had made 10 significant attacks on American forces. U.S. casualties in these actions were put at four killed and 29 wounded, while two enemy were known dead.

Farmers Use Spray To Help Firemen

SPARTA (AP) — Farmers using their orchard spraying equipment helped firemen prevent the spread of flames which destroyed an apple storage building here Monday night.

Sparta Fire Chief Gale Taylor said the blaze caused $80,000 to $100,000 damage. Taylor said the flames were out of control by the time firemen were called.

They controlled the blaze after a four-hour struggle. Cause of the fire was not determined immediately but a state fire marshal was called to the scene. The building contained no apples because picking of fruit for storage will not begin for about 10 days.

Humiliation Of Military Hailed

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazilians generally were concerned for the safety of U. S. Ambassador C. Burke Elbrick during the three days he was kidnapped by terrorists, but many were delighted to see Brazil's military dictatorship humiliated.

Even the nonpolitical majority, usually interested mostly in soccer and the beaches, were glad to see a victory over the military clique that shows no sign of relaxing its hold on power.

"Look at those 20,000 soldiers, and they can't do anything about a small group of terrorists," one Brazilian said as he watched the military parade for Independence Day Sunday.

Another commented: "All the massive student demonstrations of last year didn't achieve nearly as much as the kidnapping." As their price for Elbrick's release, the kidnappers forced the government to give 15 political prisoners safe conduct to Mexico and to let the censored press and government broadcasting facilities publish a manifesto blasting the regime as a dictatorship. Supporters of the government were shocked; its critics were jubilant.

But some Brazilians feared that the junta would take even tougher measures against its opponents. Others were afraid that the success of the kidnapping would result in an increase in terrorism.

The search for Elbrick's abductors continued. Unconfirmed reports said police began rounding up suspects as soon as the ambassador was released Sunday and that 17 persons had been arrested.

Firm Reports Fund Machine

DETROIT (AP) — There may be no money tree. But there is a money machine.

The Burroughs Corp. is making and distributing it. Burroughs announced today it has acquired Speytec Ltd., of Croydon, England, and that its facilities are being expanded to produce more of what it describes as "cash dispensing machines of advanced design."

Burroughs explained: "The cash dispensing machine enables a depositor to obtain a certain amount of cash at any hour of the day or night from machines placed at a bank or other strategic locations."

"Key to the automatic disbursing of funds is a bank card embossed with a customer's account number and carrying related information in a magnetic tape. When the card is inserted in the machine, account information is automatically read and a predetermined amount of money disbursed on the spot."

"Advanced security features designed into the system protect both the bank and the customer against unauthorized use. Future models will operate online with the bank's computer system."

Burroughs said the Midland Bank Ltd., of England, had ordered 500 money machines.

Soccer Bribery Charge Cause Of Italian Upheaval

CASERTA, Italy (AP) — Demonstrators battled police today for the second straight day after setting fires in protest of a bribery charge that set back the local soccer team. Parts of the town were wrecked by the fires and its 39,000 people were on strike.

About 2,000 demonstrators broke through police lines and halted traffic on the Rome-Caserta-Naples railway line, which had been restored to service under police guard during the night.

Dirksen's Pet Projects Fade

WASHINGTON (AP) — The death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen may mark the fading of some of the late Senate Republican leader's pet projects—namely overturning two controversial Supreme Court decisions.

Dirksen was the champion of constitutional amendments which would undo high court rulings banning official prayers in public schools and requiring that state legislators be elected on an equal population basis.

At the time of his death Sunday, the Illinois senator had been unsuccessful, but he was still pushing the amendments which would:

—Permit one house of each state legislature to be apportioned on the basis of factors other than population.

—Make it clear that non-denominational prayer is permissible in schools and other public buildings.

A prayer amendment he proposed in 1966 won a 49-37 vote in the Senate, but this was eight short of the two-thirds majority needed.

His proposal would have provided that nothing in the Constitution "shall prohibit the authority administering any school, school system, educational institution or other public building supported in whole or in part through the expenditure of public funds from providing for or permitting the voluntary participation by students or others in prayer."

He also was hoping, despite two defeats in the Senate, for passage of the amendment to wipe out the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote rulings.

Western White House Costly

dia. Short term visitors such as cabinet members stayed principally at a luxury resort hotel at Newport Beach, about 30 minutes drive up the Pacific coast. During last week's cabinet meeting at San Clemente, for example, 35 rooms were taken at the plush hotel for two nights each.

A steady stream of visitors came to San Clemente during the month. For example: Six newly appointed ambassadors on Aug. 19th; the Advisory Council on Executive Reorganization Aug. 20th; the Urban Affairs Council Aug. 25th; top economic advisers Aug. 28th.

Groups such as the six ambassadors flew individually from their homes throughout the country by commercial plane. If such visitors live in the west, the cost was less than going to Washington—and thus a deduction against other added costs of the western operation.

Some top administration officials, such as Attorney General John Mitchell and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, rented homes for the month at up to $1,000—the bulk of which they paid themselves since the costs exceed the standard $16 per day government allowance for meals, lodging and miscellaneous expenses of traveling officials.

Seven such homes were made available by local residents who agreed to take their vacations during Nixon's presence, said inn owner Presley who helped make the arrangements.

Accident Fatal

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Gary Brown, 4, Monroe, Mich., died in Flower Hospital Monday night of injuries received in an auto accident Sunday that claimed the life of his mother. Elvira Jane Brown, 26, was killed outright in the two-car crash at a rural intersection just across the state line in Erie Township.

Students Learn Firearm Safety

One-hour assembly programs on firearm safety, clothing from the standpoint of comfort and color, and survival hints were presented to 2,140 junior and senior high school boys and girls at Escanaba Area Senior and Junior High Schools Monday.

The programs were part of a series being presented by the Department of Natural Resources in an attempt to decrease hunting accidents and to increase understanding and enjoyment of the use of firearms and the out of doors. The program was presented by conservation officers Frank Opolka, Max Fenby and Thomas Safford of the Escanaba district.

Students participating from the senior high school were Gene Timmer, Lynn Collins, Bill Dubord, Mike Dupont and Ed Gafner. They dressed in different types of hunting outfits, and assisted in the program and acted out several skits.

Realism was added to the fast-moving program by the use of evergreen trees on stands, a portable fence and firearms.

Although firearm accidents always will accompany the use of guns, the percentage of accidents has been reduced by about 75 per cent since the firearm safety assembly program was started in 1952, officers said.

The program was scheduled today at Holy Name High School, Wednesday at Gladstone, Thursday at Rapid River and Friday at the Big Bay de Noc High School at Nahma.

Police Go To Aid Of Office Group

DETROIT (AP) — Under police protection, the Wayne County Department of Social Services reopened its Detroit offices today. They had been closed since Friday because of demonstrating mothers received aid to dependent children.

Closing followed a march by mothers through the first and second floors, clapping their hand and singing and in some cases, employees said, making threats.

Wakefield School Dispute Unresolved

By The Associated Press
Contract settlements in Royal Oak and Saginaw the largest two school districts closed this month by teacher contract disputes, today reduced to nine the number of Michigan school districts threatened with no school this week because of labor problems.

The Michigan Education Association said 106 districts still did not have contracts. There are still more than 35,500 students across the state facing school shut-downs. Over 1,600 teachers are involved.

Districts closed by strikes or lockouts include: Summerfield, Montague, Cornuna, Pinconning, Wakefield, Harper Woods, East Detroit, Dearborn No. 7, and Westwood.

On The Sidelines With Mike Utt

The Babe Ruth League baseball season in the city of Escanaba was completed recently and Paul Vardigan, city recreation director, reported that the Insurance and the Teamsters finished in a two-way tie for first place. Vardigan also said that for the first time in the local Babe Ruth League, two deaf youngsters participated in the program. Both boys, Lindsay King of Kiwanis and Brent Humbert of Insurance, attend school at the oral-deaf room of the Lemmer School.

Gary Sample and Russ King had good reasons for the Manistique Chiefs, co-holders of the Waubung League crown with the Escanaba Cubs. Sample led the Manistique nine in hitting during league play with 11 hits in 34 trips to the plate for a .324 average. King won 10 games and lost two while pitching 101½ innings, giving up 37 hits and allowing 33 runs. He also struck out 140 batters and walked 42. His earned run average was 0.44.

Tom Villemure, former Newberry High School and University of Detroit basketball star, recently announced his resignation as assistant basketball coach at the U. of D. Villemure will become the head basketball coach at Birmingham's Seaholm High School. As a high school coach, Villemure had a 72-21 record at St. Hedwig and Austin High Schools and his 1966 Austin team won the Detroit City Championship. He also coached at the Detroit Business College and his club had a 19-6 record. Villemure had been on the U of D staff for two years.

Tom Domres, former Gladstone High School and University of Wisconsin football great, is now playing defensive tackle for the Houston Oilers of the American Football League. Domres also splits his time as a defensive end with Elvin Bethea and he recently joked about his dual positions. "I guess I'll have to pray that nothing happens to Elvin," Domres said. "I've managed to learn a few techniques at tackle, but they won't work at end. I could play the position, but I hope it won't be necessary."

Another former U. P. football great, Dick Berlinski, who played for Kingsford High School before moving on to Michigan State University, is now playing with the Tri-City Apollos of the Continental Football League. The Apollos are from Midland. In his senior year at Michigan State, Berlinski was selected to the North-South Shrine game and kicked the winning field goal in the 3-0 contest.

Paul Feldhausen, who played high school football at Iron Mountain and later starred at Northland College in Ashland, Wis., has been put on waivers by the Boston Patriots of the American Football League. Feldhausen, an offensive tackle, had been on the Patriots' taxi squad most of last year but was activated for the last several games of the season.

Two other former U. P. athletic standouts, Rudy Steiner of Iron Mountain and Pat Miller of Menominee, are making a name for themselves on the college gridiron. Steiner is listed as the No. 2 quarterback for the University of Wisconsin. Miller is attending Michigan State on a basketball scholarship.

Bowlers in the Escanaba area, remember that "Strikes-n-Spares" will begin appearing in this space every Friday, starting this week and running through the end of the bowling season. Any information that you would like to see in this column should be sent or called into the Daily Press Sports Desk before 2 p. m. on Thursdays and only information reported by individual bowlers, league secretaries or bowling alley proprietors will appear in the column.

Wolverine End To Miss Games

ANN ARBOR, (AP) — Phil Seymour, Michigan's All-Big Ten defensive end, is expected to be lost to the team for at least five weeks, missing the Wolverines' first four football games.

A team spokesman said the 21-year-old Seymour, a senior from Berkley, has remained hospitalized since he injured the knee Saturday in a scrimmage. Whether surgery would be required on the knee was not immediately decided, the spokesman said.

Mira Traded To Eagles; Mitchell Quits Redskins

By The Associated Press

George Mira got what he wanted but a host of other veterans didn't. Bobby Mitchell chose to avoid the whole issue.

Mira, five-year quarterback with the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, was traded to the Philadelphia Eagles and wide receiver Bobby Mitchell announced his retirement from the Washington Redskins on a busy Monday at football's market place and chopping block.

American Football League clubs made their final, no-recall cuts to reach the 40-man limit. NFL teams got down to 44 men, and will make their final, no-recall cuts to 40 Sept. 15.

Mira, who had often said he wanted to be traded, was dealt to the Eagles for veteran lineman Randy Beisler and two draft choices. Mira played in the shadow of John Brodie for most of his career. His departure opens the No. 2 spot to Steve Spurrier.

Beisler, the Eagles' first draft pick in 1966, has played both defensive end and offensive tackle.

Mitchell, his pride aching as much as his legs, announced his retirement from the Washington Redskins of the NFL, saying he couldn't stand being part of the team and sitting on the bench. "This is a sad moment," said the No. 1 pass receiver among NFL active players. "After 20 years of playing it is hard to turn loose something you love."

Mitchell, a 34-year-old wide receiver, said his legs were making it hard to run even 10 yards with his old dash. He was being used as a reserve end this year. Coach Vince Lombardi said Mitchell will take a front office job on the club's player personnel staff.

Mitchell leaves an impressive legacy. He is No. 2 in total yardage for passes, rushing and kickoff returns with 14,078 yards — a record surpassed only by the great Jim Brown, his former teammate on the Cleveland Browns.

He is also No. 2 on the all-time list in pass receiving with 521 catches for 7,953 yards, trailing only the retired Raymond Berry of the Baltimore Colts.

Mitchell was traded to Washington from Cleveland, where he had been a running back, in 1962 for the late Ernie Davis.

In two other trades, the Cincinnati Bengals of the AFL sent running back Warren McVea to the Kansas City Chiefs of the AFL for placekicker-punter Horst Muhlmann and the New Orleans Saints of the NFL dealt safety George Youngblood to

Mets Trip Chicago To Tighten League

By The Associated Press

The National League East has taken on the look of the National League West, which could lead to the most complicated windup to the pennant races in baseball's 100-year history.

The New York Mets and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn were the instruments of the latest developments Monday, the Mets tightening the Eastern race even further by defeating front-running Chicago 3-2 just hours after Kuhn had announced multiple plans covering all playoff possibilities.

Those possibilities moved closer to becoming probabilities — and forcing the first double playoff in history — as the Mets trimmed another length off the Cubs' lead and tightened the NL East race into NL West proportions.

The Mets' victory drew them even with the Cubs in the loss column, just 1½ games behind the leaders — the closest they've been since the third day of the season. At the same time, Pittsburgh closed to within 6½ of the top with a 6-2 triumph over Montreal.

In the West, meanwhile, the juggling continued with Cincinnati taking over first place from San Francisco, by one-half game, with a doubleheader sweep over the Giants by identical 5-4 scores, although the nightcap took 15 innings.

Los Angeles moved into third, just 1½ behind, by edging Atlanta 2-0 while, in other games, Houston stayed up there with a 9-2 blasting of San Diego and St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 4-3.

The Mets closed in on Chicago with Tommie Agee providing the impetus. Agee whacked a two-run homer in the third inning, then doubled in the sixth and scored the winning run on Wayne Garrett's single. That tagged the loss on Bill Hands, now 16-13.

Jerry Koonsman, 13-9, got the victory with a seven-hitter after the Cubs had tied the score in the top of the sixth on singles by Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert and Billy Williams and a sacrifice fly by Ron Santo.

The Reds won the opener

when Johnny Bench tagged Giants' starter Juan Marichal, 17-10, for a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

Then, after being held hitless for 10 consecutive innings by San Francisco relievers Ron Herbel, Don McMahon and Frank Linzy, the Reds put the nightcap away in the 15th on an infield hit by pinch hitter Ted Savage, a sacrifice, an intentional walk to Pete Rose and Bobby Tolan's single.

The Pirates ran their winning streak to four games and made it 14 victories in their last 20 games, by coming from behind in the ninth inning on a grand slam homer by Jose Martinez. The homer was the first for Martinez in the majors.

A home run from another unlikely source, Ted Sizemore, brought Los Angeles its victory over Atlanta. Sizemore's two-run shot in the third inning — only his second homer and both in Atlanta — gave the Dodgers the only runs they needed behind Bill Singer and Jim Brewer.

The Astros put it out of San Diego's reach with a four-run first built on triples by Joe Morgan and Jesus Alou, a wild pitch, a walk and a homer by Curt Blefary. That was enough for Tom Griffin, who posted his 10th victory despite two homers by Nate Colbert.

Mike Shannon's two-run homer boosted the Cardinals lead over the Phillies to 4-0 in the sixth inning and turned out to be the clinching blow when Philadelphia struck back in the ninth on a three-run homer by Johnny Briggs.

On The Sidelines With Mike Utt

The Babe Ruth League baseball season in the city of Escanaba was completed recently and Paul Vardigan, city recreation director, reported that the Insurance and the Teamsters finished in a two-way tie for first place. Vardigan also said that for the first time in the local Babe Ruth League, two deaf youngsters participated in the program. Both boys, Lindsay King of Kiwanis and Brent Humbert of Insurance, attend school at the oral-deaf room of the Lemmer School.

Gary Sample and Russ King had good reasons for the Manistique Chiefs, co-holders of the Waubesa League crown with the Escanaba Cubs. Sample led the Manistique nine in hitting during league play with 11 hits in 34 trips to the plate for a .324 average. King won 10 games and lost two while pitching 101 1/3 innings, giving up 37 hits and allowing 33 runs. He also struck out 140 batters and walked 42. His earned run average was 0.44.

Tom Villemure, former Newberry High School and University of Detroit basketball star, recently announced his resignation as assistant basketball coach at the U. of D. Villemure will become the head basketball coach at Birmingham's Seaboard High School. As a high school coach, Villemure had a 72-21 record at St. Hedwig and Austin High Schools and his 1966 Austin team won the Detroit City Championship. He also coached at the Detroit Business College and his club had a 19-6 record. Villemure had been on the U of D staff for two years.

Tom Domres, former Gladstone High School and University of Wisconsin football great, is now playing defensive tackle for the Houston Oilers of the American Football League. Domres also splits his time as a defensive end with Elvin Bethea and he recently joked about his dual positions. "I guess I'll have to pray that nothing happens to Elvin," Domres said. "I've managed to learn a few techniques at tackle, but they won't work at end. I could play the position, but I hope it won't be necessary."

Another former U. P. football great, Dick Berlinski, who played for Kingsford High School before moving on to Michigan State University, is now playing with the Tri-City Apollos of the Continental Football League. The Apollos are from Midland. In his senior year at Michigan State, Berlinski was selected to the North-South Shrine game and kicked the winning field goal in the 3-0 contest.

Paul Feldhausen, who played high school football at Iron Mountain and later starred at Northland College in Ashland, Wis., has been put on waivers by the Boston Patriots of the American Football League. Feldhausen, an offensive tackle, had been on the Patriots' taxi squad most of last year but was activated for the last several games of the season.

Two other former U. P. athletic standouts, Rudy Steiner of Iron Mountain and Pat Miller of Menominee, are making a name for themselves on the college gridiron. Steiner is listed as the No. 2 quarterback for the University of Wisconsin. Miller is attending Michigan State on a basketball scholarship.

Bowlers in the Escanaba area, remember that "Strikes-n-Spares" will begin appearing in this space every Friday, starting this week and running through the end of the bowling season. Any information that you would like to see in this column should be sent or called into the Daily Press Sports Desk before 2 p. m. on Thursdays and only information reported by individual bowlers, league secretaries or bowling alley proprietors will appear in the column.

Kekich, Yanks Upend Bengals

DETROIT (AP)—Gene Michael is nicknamed "stick" because of his lanky appearance. But although the name is appropriate, the reason is obsolete.

Michael, always regarded as a fine glove man, poked in two New York runs with singles as the Yankees trimmed the Detroit Tigers 3-2 Monday night behind Mike Kekich's pitching.

"It's probably the most amazing thing I can think of," said Yankee manager Ralph Houk of Michael's hitting. Houk gave him the shortstop job earlier in the year primarily because of his fielding ability and just prior to an injury to Tom Tresh, who has since been traded to Detroit.

"Before Tresh was injured Houk told me 'You're the shortstop until you play yourself out,'" Michael said in the dressing room.

At the start of the season the 31-year-old Ohioan, who is a school teacher in the off season, had an anemic major league average of .196. He broke into the big leagues with Pittsburgh in 1966 and played with Los Angeles the next year before being obtained by New York in the winter of 1967.

Now he is batting .279 for the third highest average on the team, and his singles Monday extended his hitting streak to nine games.

Kekich was working on a one-hitter until the eighth when Detroit pushed across its second run on a single by Willie Horton, a wild pitch, and a single by Bill Freehan. Jack Aker relieved him and picked up his 13th save.

The Tigers first hit came in the fourth on Jim Northrup's

20th home run. Horace Clarke scored the first two-out double in the third and came home on a single by Michael. Then in the sixth Clarke was safe on a two-base throwing error by rookie shortstop Cesar Gutierrez, stole third and scored on a bloop single by Michael.

The Yankees scored the winning run in the seventh when Jimmie Hall walked, took third on a single by Thurman Munson and scored on a scratch single by Kekich off third baseman Don Wert's glove.

Earl Wilson, 12-9, was the loser for Detroit.

Michigan Classic's Problems Unsolved

DETROIT (AP) — The ill-fated Michigan Golf Classic remained swamped in controversy as one of the sponsors and the tournament director blamed each other for the event's financial problems.

The tournament, first tarnished when most of the name players on the PGA tour stayed away, was dragged into the mud Sunday when Classic officials informed the PGA they couldn't pay the $100,000 prize money.

Neither Larry Ziegler, tournament winner who was supposed to have received a $20,000 prize, nor any of the other players received checks for their winnings.

Phil Lachman, owner of a Detroit trophy house, told a news conference his side of the situation Monday. He and John Brennan, manager of Oakland Hills Golf and Country Club in suburban Birmingham, were the sponsors who comprised Michigan Golf Classic Inc.

He said it would be seven to 10 days before it was determined how much money the tournament took in.

Lachman heaped blame for the troubles on Marshall Chambers, the tournament director who was in charge of promotion and other arrangements for the event.

"I've been trying very hard to keep my cool," said Lachman, a middle-aged man with greying hair and a trim mustache.

He said he had expected Chambers to handle all aspects of the tournament except the finances, which Lachman said he was in charge of.

"I went to the local papers and to my amazement there was no advance publicity," Lachman said. Marshall told me it wasn't necessary. I said 'if you can handle it, okay,' but I became worried then."

He said Chambers hadn't properly arranged for posters to be made for parking, that the scoreboard wasn't put in the right place, and that arrangements for police traffic supervision would not have been adequate if there was a large gate.

Chambers said he wasn't invited to Lachman's news conference but that "I would have to say Phil is just protecting himself."

"If these things he said are true, then all I can say is they are irresponsible statements and my only recourse is in a lawsuit," Chambers said.

Chambers denied Lachman's assertions that he didn't get anything done on time.

Lachman also criticized the OGA, which he said "sold us out." "At no time did Mr. Dey come to us and ask 'How can we help you out,'" Joseph Dey is the chairman of the Tournament Players Division headquartered in New York.

Lachman said all the employees of the tournament had been paid, but none of the players.

"I feel a moral obligation to all the local people who have cooperated with us," Lachman said. "I don't feel the same obligation to the PGA which I feel did not exert any effort after using me."

"He (Lachman) worked on all the budgets and he knew every dollar that was going to be spent," said Chambers.

"He's the man who was supposed to pay off the money and this is a poor time to cry."

"At one point we had this worked out where there was no problem," added Chambers, who is an advertising man.

Meanwhile, Lachman said he could not answer whether or when the tournament prize money would be paid.

Orioles, Twins Move Closer To Playoffs

By The Associated Press
Baltimore and Minnesota didn't do very much Monday night—the Orioles were rained out and the Twins lost—but still drew closer to the expected October playoff for the American League pennant.

While the Orioles were washed out of their scheduled meeting with Washington, the second-place Detroit Tigers bowed to the New York Yankees 3-2 and fell 15 games back. Baltimore's magic number to clinch the AL East dropped to eight.

In the West, California whipped Minnesota 6-4 but runner-up Oakland lost to Kansas City 7-3. The Twins remained 8½ games in front and their magic number is 16.

Elsewhere, Boston nipped Cleveland 5-4 and Seattle swept the Chicago White Sox 2-1 and 5-1 as rookie Miguel Fuentes hurled a seven-hitter in his first major league start.

The Angels did a thorough job on Minnesota routing 17-game winner Jim Perry and halting Ted Uhlaender's 20-game hitting streak, longest in the league this season.

Rudy May, 8-11, needed help from Ken Tatum in the eighth and the rookie right-hander posted his 18th save. Perry was seeking to match his career high in victories, set with Cleveland in 1960, but came away instead with his sixth loss.

California nicked Perry for two runs in the third—Sandy

Alomar scoring the first one when he sped home from third base on Jim Fregosi's looping pop to second baseman Cesar Tovar in shallow right field. The Angels added four more in the fifth, Alomar igniting the uprising with a single.

Rookie Al Fitzmorris posted his first big league victory with three innings of scoreless relief as Kansas City sent slump-ridden Oakland to its 11th defeat in 14 games.

Bob Oliver's two-run pinch homer in the fifth wiped out a 3-1 Oakland lead and Lou Piniella drove in the go-ahead run in the eighth with a sacrifice fly. The Royals added three more in the ninth, two on Joe Keough's single.

George Scott's two-run, two-out single in the eighth lifted the Red Sox past Cleveland. Rico Petrocelli and Tony Conigliaro homered for Boston.

Fuentes, a 20-year-old right-hander brought up last week from the Pilots' Class A farm team in the Midwest League, lost his shutout against the White Sox in the eighth when Angel Bravo tripled and scored on a single by Walt Williams.

Seattle's Steve Whitaker and Chicago's Rudy Bradford homered in the opener and the Pilots scored the winning run in the third when Tommy Harper walked, swiped his 66th base and eventually trotted home on a bases-loaded walk to Don Mincher.

Annual Tri-Club Set At Highland

Golfers of the three area golf courses are poised to tee-off in the annual Tri-Club tournament at the Highland Golf Club this coming Saturday and Sunday, September 13 and 14. A large field is expected for this popular tournament, and the Highland course is groomed and ready, club officials stated.

Last year's champion Pete Peterson is expected to be on tap to defend his title which he won in sensational fashion, upending both Jerry Harris and Jim Douglas of the Highland in extra holes.

The tournament is a medal event with Saturday's rounds being used as qualifying rounds, and the 18 holes on Sunday to be played in flights. All 36 holes will be used in scoring, however. The championship flight will play an additional nine holes on Sunday, for a total of 45.

Golfers may tee-off at any time after 9 a. m. Saturday morning with the only provision being that at least one golfer in each foursome be from a different club. Sunday morning, tee-off times will begin at 9 a. m.

The first four places in each flight will receive a prize. Golfers may sign up at the Highland before tee time on Saturday.

Jim Wosman, a right-hand-hitting first baseman from Detroit's Class A Batavia farm club in the New York-Penn league, has been chosen the league's player of the month for August. In 47 games the 21-year-old third year pro hit .382, with 11 doubles, 10 home runs, and 51 runs batted in.

Kekich, Yanks Upend Bengals

DETROIT (AP)—Gene Michael is nicknamed "stick" because of his lanky appearance. But although the name is appropriate, the reason is obsolete.

Michael, always regarded as a fine glove man, poked in two New York runs with singles as the Yankees trimmed the Detroit Tigers 3-2 Monday night behind Mike Kekich's pitching.

"It's probably the most amazing thing I can think of," said Yankee manager Ralph Houk of Michael's hitting. Houk gave him the shortstop job earlier in the year primarily because of his fielding ability and just prior to an injury to Tom Tresh, who has since been traded to Detroit.

"Before Tresh was injured Houk told me 'You're the shortstop until you play yourself out,'" Michael said in the dressing room.

At the start of the season the 31-year-old Ohioan, who is a school teacher in the off season, had an anemic major league average of .196. He broke into the big leagues with Pittsburgh in 1966 and played with Los Angeles the next year before being obtained by New York in the winter of 1967.

Now he is batting .279 for the third highest average on the team, and his singles Monday extended his hitting streak to nine games.

Kekich was working on a one-hitter until the eighth when Detroit pushed across its second run on a single by Willie Horton, a wild pitch, and a single by Bill Freehan. Jack Aker relieved him and picked up his 13th save.

The Tigers first hit came in the fourth on Jim Northrup's

20th home run.

Horace Clarke scored the first two Yankee runs. He smacked a two-out double in the third and came home on a single by Michael. Then in the sixth Clarke was safe on a two-base throwing error by rookie shortstop Cesar Gutierrez, stole third and scored on a bloop single by Michael.

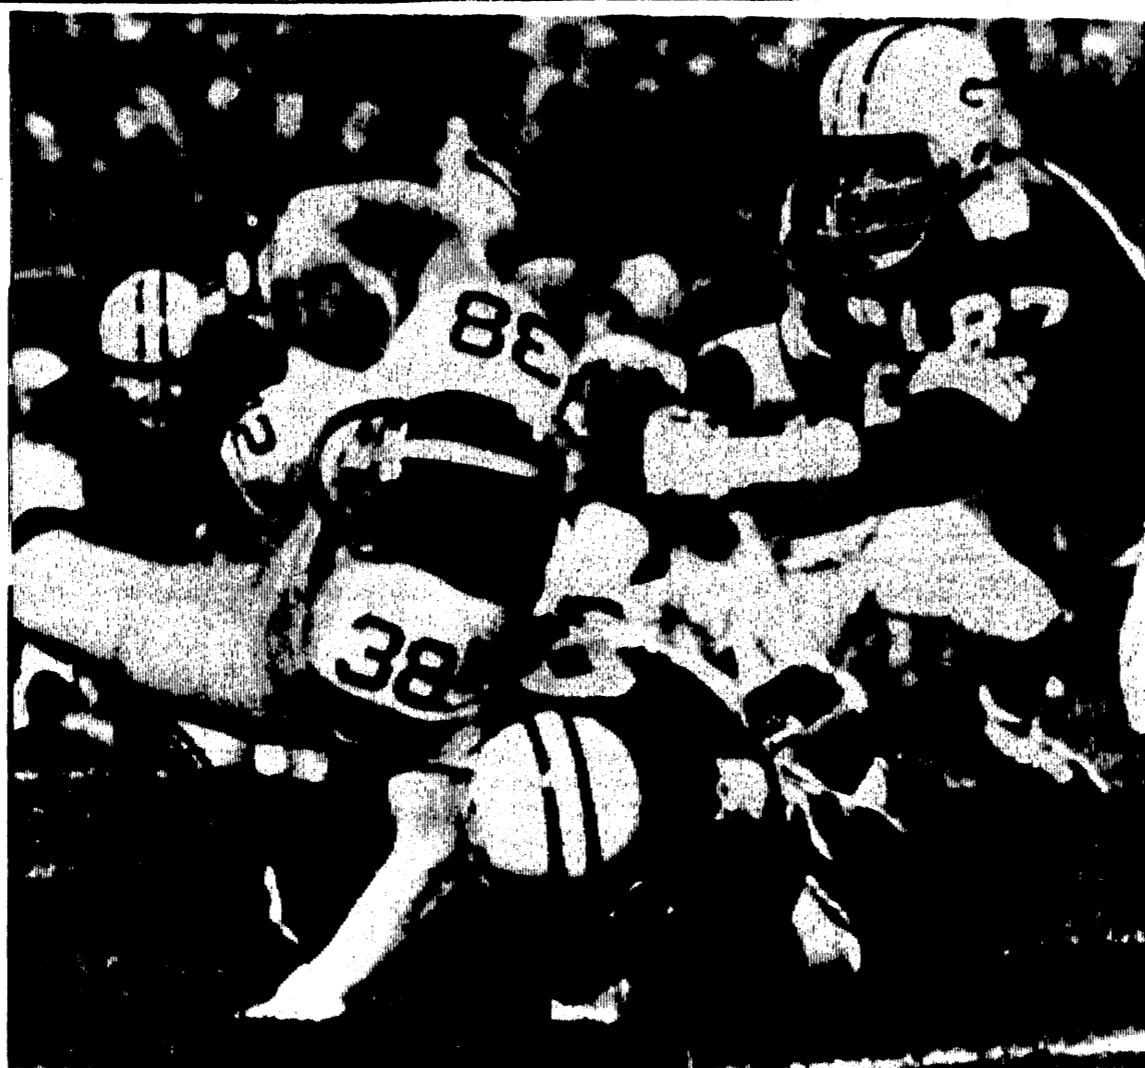

The Yankees scored the winning run in the seventh when Jimmie Hall walked, took third on a single by Thurman Munson and scored on a scratch single by Kekich off third baseman Don Wert's glove.

Earl Wilson, 12-9, was the loser for Detroit.

Violation Of Probation Puts Man In Jail

Patrick C. LaFave, 33, 121 N. Fourth St., is in the Schoolcraft County Jail awaiting both a District Court and Circuit Court appearance after being arrested by Michigan State Police Sunday morning.

LaFave was arrested for violation of probation on a non-support court order and will appear in Circuit Court when the September term convenes next week in Manistique. He is also scheduled for arraignment in District Court before Judge Charles A. Stark on a charge of breaking and entering into an unoccupied dwelling.

LaFave was arrested at 10:40 Sunday morning in an A-frame dwelling owned by Everett Schmenk, Ottawa, Ohio, and located on the Thunder Lake Road. He was being sought by troopers after his pick up truck was discovered near a culvert on the Thunder Lake Road (County Road 437). LaFave told troopers he lost control of his vehicle on a curve and went into a ditch with the truck rolling on its side. He was issued two tickets as a result of the accident: failure to report a property damage accident and violation of the basic speed law. The mishap occurred about 2:30 Sunday morning, LaFave told troopers.

LaFave received minor injuries in the traffic mishap and was checked at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital before being jailed.

Two Delta County women were admitted to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital following an accident on County Road L-22 in Nahma Township Saturday at 9:50 p.m. Troopers said an automobile driven by Hazel Robinson, N. 17th St., Gladstone, went off the road and into a culvert. Mrs. Robinson and a passenger, Nancy Sundling, were injured. Mrs. Robinson was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law and an expired operator's license.

Violation Of Probation Puts Man In Jail

Patrick C. LaFave, 33, 121 N. Fourth St., is in the Schoolcraft County Jail awaiting both a District Court and Circuit Court appearance after being arrested by Michigan State Police Sunday morning.

He is also scheduled for arraignment in District Court before Judge Charles A. Stark on a charge of breaking and entering into an unoccupied dwelling.

LaFave was arrested at 10:40 Sunday morning in an A-frame dwelling owned by Everett Schmenk, Ottawa, Ohio, and located on the Thunder Lake Road. MANISTIQUE

Council Sets Interest Rate

City Council set six per cent as the interest rate property owners will pay on curb and gutter assessments.

Council also approved borrowing $16,000 from the city's perpetual care fund to pay the project costs for the nine blocks which have new curb and gutter installations.

No objections were heard Monday night during a public hearing on the completed assessment roll. Two Arbutus Ave. residents, Stan Arnold and Don DeSautel, inquired into the interest rate they would be charged.

Taxpayers may pay their assessment interest free until Sept. 28, city manager Robert Noe said, but after then the 6 per cent rate will be added. The assessment will be spread over a 10-year period, but everyone has the option of paying in full at any time, Noe added.

About $1,000 already has been paid by some property owners.

During the regular council meeting, petitions were received and filed for new sidewalks, roads and curbs from nine residents on Pearl St.; for seal-coating Alger Ave. to Riverdale St. by eight residents of Riverdale; and installation of two street lights on Iron St. from five residents of that street.

Bids will be opened Sept. 16 on the new low income family housing project, the city manager said. Bid deadline on the project has twice been extended since the U. S. Dept. of Labor had not established minimum labor wage standards. Noe credited the efforts of Rep. Philip Ruppe (R-Mich.) in getting the labor statistics set.

Before adjourning, Council appointed City Clerk Ralph Ekstrom to the city retirement board to replace City Attorney William F. Hood.

Police Probing Possible Arson In School Blaze

EAST DETROIT (AP) State Police are investigating the possibility of arson in a blaze which did an estimated $5,000 damage to the auditorium stage at East Detroit High School.

Detective Jim Thomas of the State Police fire marshal division took samples from the burned area Monday to test for residue of inflammable liquids. He said he had eliminated "a lot of accidental possibilities."

The school has been closed because of a contract dispute with teachers.

Frank Molnar, East Detroit fire chief, said the blaze apparently was under way for some time before the alarm was turned in at 10 p.m. Sunday.

Dick's Success Pattern Is Classic

By MEL HEIMER

Big, brown-haired, gray-eyed Dick Sargent is a front-line commodity in show business as the co-star of ABC-TV's "Bewitched" (he's taken Dick York's place as Liz Montgomery's confused husband)—but he still remembers with some fondness his days as a ditch-digger.

"It only lasted a week—it was one of a series of jobs I took in a lean period following a small movie success and the acquisition of my Screen Actors' Guild card—but somehow, it gave me a kind of stature," he says with a grin. "I'd walk into a cocktail party, someone would ask what I was doing, I'd say in Hemingway fashion, 'Digging ditches'—and I'd feel eight feet tall."

That lean period, incidentally, really was lean. Dick had a $250-a-month trust fund that his folks had set up, but that didn't stretch too far, and he did everything from selling in department stores to trying the import-export business in San Miguel Allende, Mexico. "Oh yes," he recalled, "I went the whole bit, existing on peanut butter and jelly sandwiches and so on. One time I only had $30 to last a month—and I spent part of that buying Girl Scout cookies from a door-to-door vendor, and also being suckered into a magazine subscription by a fast-talking guy. That was a reasonably rough month."

A Carmel, Calif., native, the genial, intelligent Sargent almost was destined for show biz. His mother, using the name Ruth Powell, played in some films with Nazimova, and his father, a colonel, was Eric Von Stroheim's and Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.'s business manager and even appeared in Von Stroheim's picture, "Foolish Wives."

Oddly, his ma and pa tried to push him into the direction of business, but it didn't work. He enrolled in a business course at the U. of Oregon but then switched to Stanford and, under his real name of Richard Cox, was in some 25 plays there with the student drama group.

Sargent did some bit roles in films after graduation, and then had what amounted to the lead in the Pat Boone picture, "Bernadine," after which the late Louella Parsons said he was the talk of the town and "is going far!" He was chosen one of the 10 most promising newcomers in pictures—and then I didn't work again for a year."

Ultimately the bits and pieces fell into place, and TV-movie work came more or less regularly. "I've been a lieutenant more damned times," Dick says. "In 'Operation Petticoat,' 'The Great Imposter,' 'Captain Newman, M. D.' and some others. In one of my pictures, though, I finally made captain." In real life, Sargent's bad eyesight kept him out of service.

He was a regular on several video series, including "Broadside"—he was Lt. Maxwell Trotter, who kept coming in and saying "There's a message from Comflet, sir"—and the Tammy Grimes show, and guested on "Medic," "Playhouse 90," "Gunsmoke," "The Outcasts" and—well, just name it. He originally was considered for "Bewitched" but had other commitments, and after Dick York bowed out of the program, producer Bill Asher grabbed Sargent to replace him. "It's the most pleasant show I've ever been on," he says. "All the people are great—even though Liz can beat me at tennis most of the time."

Now a bachelor living in Hollywood Hills—he was divorced early on—Sargent wants one day (a) do some serious roles, such as Biff in "Death of a Salesman," which he did in a stock and loved, and (b) direct. "Otherwise," he adds, "no long-range goals. I'm happy doing what I'm doing."

Ryan Predicts New Building Plan Approval

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker William Ryan has predicted that opposition from the State Supreme Court and Republican legislators to the timetable for moving from their offices for planned Capitol remodeling would be "resolved."

"There is a high probability that (the Supreme Court) may want to be on the fourth floor of the Mason building," Ryan said. That building, named for an early governor, Stevens T. Mason, is west of the Capitol where the high court now has third floor chambers and a hearing room.

Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan earlier blasted Ryan's announcement of remodeling plans by saying the court would not "hold sessions on a street corner" or "work in our kitchens."

Ryan said his office and the Christman Construction Co. of Lansing, which has the remodeling contract, have agreed "it is improbable" that overtime will have to be paid to finish the work by Jan. 1.

Ryan said he had no intention of evicting the court but said he understood an existing law "technically" gives control of the 90-year-old building to the legislative council.

"It's academic," Ryan said when asked if the court might refuse to move out and perhaps even void the statute. "I don't think it's going to be a problem."

Cemetery Damage Brings Appeal To Public, Parents

An appeal to the public for assistance in halting malicious damage at Lake View Cemetery, plus the posting of a $100 reward following recent vandalism there, is hoped by the Lake View Cemetery Association to end damage that is bringing excessive cost in the maintenance of the cemetery.

Last spring nearly 40 tombstones and markers were damaged and on Friday night last week more than 55 were toppled by what police described as a "gang" of vandals.

"This is a heavy and most unnecessary expense to the Lake View Cemetery Association," said A. V. Aronson, chairman of the grounds committee. "About 90 per of the stones that were dumped over are so big that a derrick must be used to get them up again."

The vandalism was the act of older teenagers—big boys who had enough muscle to do a lot of malicious damage. The cemetery is private property, has been improved and expanded, and has space for an addition 5,000 graves.

Aronson pointed out that besides the chapel which was constructed a few years ago, Lake View Cemetery has been improved with the blacktop surfacing of all drives and roads and other beautification.
